Despite rain, Ephrata Fair has high spirits

EPHRATA - Although it rained on their side on Wednesday evening, the spirits of Ephrata livestock breeders and men were not dampened this week for the 59th annual Ephrata Fair. Set aside the street fair, the livestock area in community park featured FFA judging tests and rope pulls with 400 ninth vocational agriculture students and eight Lancaster County high schools taking part. Also on view for spectators were beef, sheep, poultry, and hog shows as well as three safe tractor driving tests.

Special highlights on Tuesday-evening opening night of the fair - were the pig contest and the rooster chase. Getting the fair off to a running start, Martin, Dogwood Drive, Ephrata R1, the adult division in the greased pig test; Todd Howell, 15, of 1004 Eysuckle Lane, Ephrata, and Frank Lin, Denver R1, took the top two places in the 12 to 15 year division; with Gary Lin, 11, of 37 S. Fourth Street, Denver, taking the 7 to 11 year division.

Mark Wolf, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wolf, 3524 Sleepy Hollow Road, Lititz R1, and Julie Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fox, Lititz R1, were the winners in the rooster scramble.

Details on the hog, beef, and sheep shows, as well as the tractor driving tests can be found in this week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

Pumpkin and squash harvest satisfactory

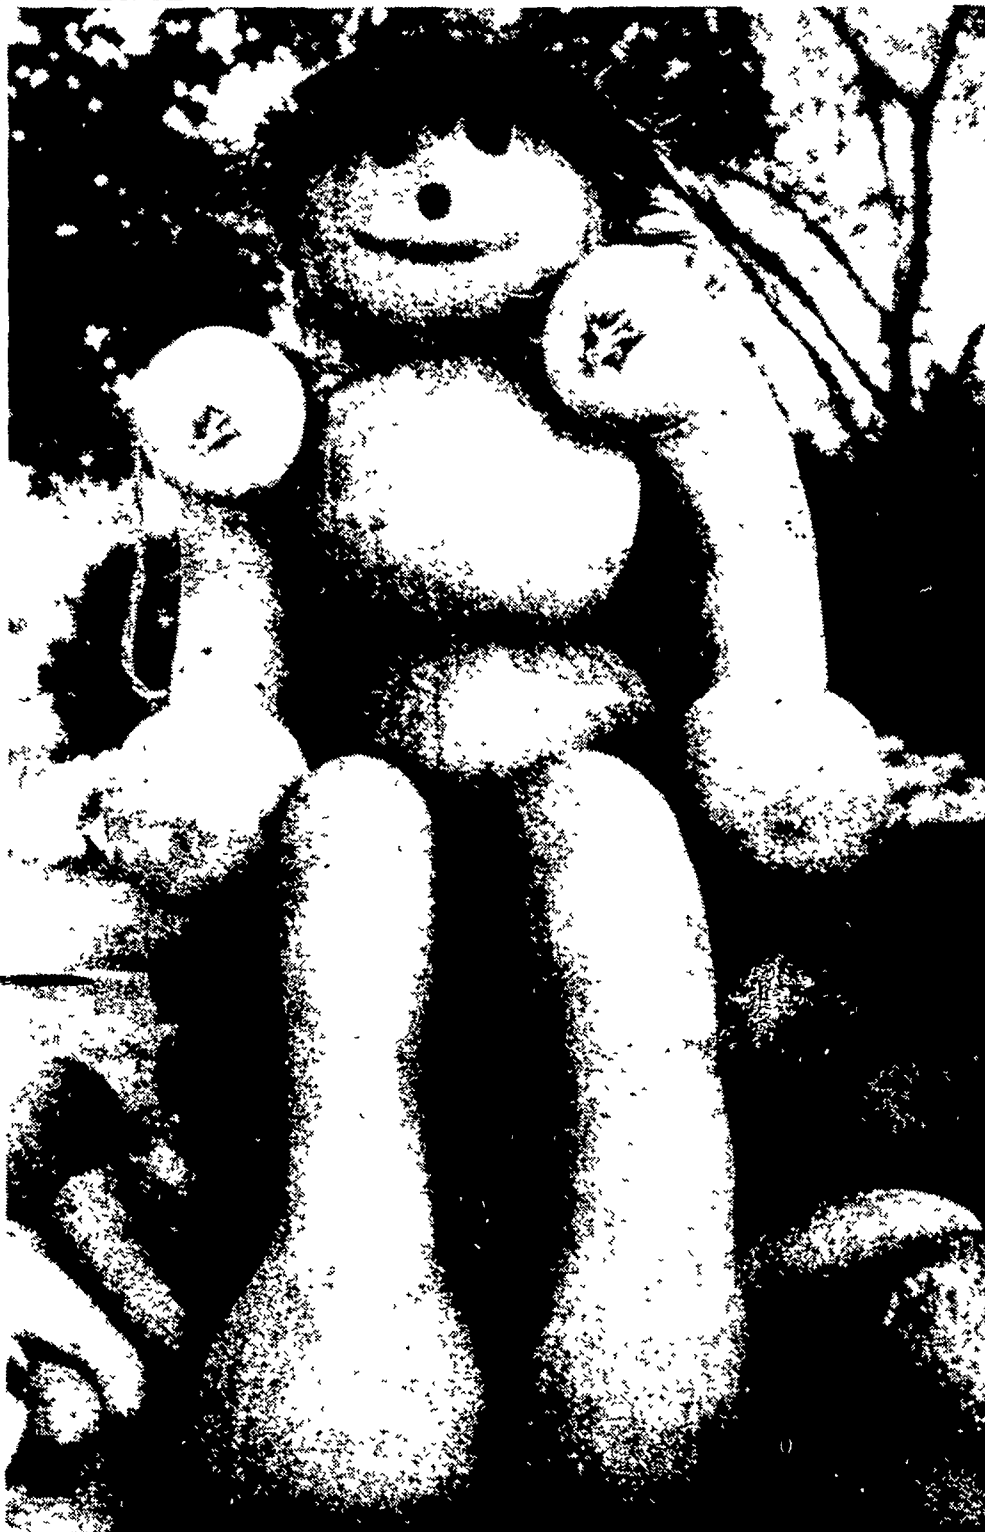

By KENDACE BORRY

Pumpkin and squash growers throughout the Lancaster County area are looking for a satisfying harvest this year, with hopes of the crop being of a good size. According to Lancaster County Extension Agent, Arnold Lueck, this year has been a good one for vine crops, and the pumpkin growers agree. Pumpkin and squash harvesting has begun on the early varieties, and the opinion of farmers generally is that the season is 10 days to two weeks early.

Glenn Thomas, Lititz R3, grows six varieties of pumpkins and squash, including Jack, Halloween, Sugar Pie, and Big Mac. Pumpkin varieties, says he looks to a "very good" harvest this year. His pumpkins are good-sized, and coming to maturity early, but he says he will have plenty for the Halloween and Thanksgiving markets. Thomas, who grows all his pumpkins and squash for retail sales, stated that he sprayed his pumpkins quite a bit in the spring with the mal insect activity being present, and the summer he sprayed for blight. But, he added that there were no unusual problems with the pumpkin growing this year.

Thomas, who believes that the market for pumpkins on the retail market usually stays the same year in and out, noted that around Halloween time the most popular pumpkin, as would be expected, is the jack-o-lantern type. Then as Thanksgiving approaches, the neck of the pumpkin becomes the favorite for people

Lucrative egg market sought

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER - In what is the first effort of its kind in the nation, the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association recently put the finishing touches on a promotion program which they hope will markedly increase egg sales to restaurant operators. The idea is thought to be very lucrative since studies have shown that between 20 and 30 per cent of all eggs consumed are eaten away from home.

One restaurateur who saw the 20-minute promotional program while it was still in its rough stages was reportedly highly impressed with it and believes it will

Pesticide deadline is Oct. 21

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG - If you walk into a farm supply store a month from now and want to purchase a chemical which has a skull and crossbones on the label, you're going to need a little more than cash or good credit. You'll have to dig out a little card which says you're certified to use restricted chemicals.

According to information made available at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, only about half of the potential private pesticide applicators have taken a test towards certification. For commercial applicators the figure is

Champions chosen at Oley

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER

OLEY - It was another year and another success for the 31st annual Oley Valley Community Fair. Thousands of people poured into this little Berks County community for the Fair's offerings which ranged from needlecraft, fruit and vegetable displays to popular livestock shows. Even the rain which soaked the fairgrounds on Friday, the second day of the event, didn't keep the crowds away.

There was something for everyone. Besides the usual livestock and exhibit judging there was a tractor pull,

Egg industry upset by diet proposal

By DIETER KRIEG

Lancaster - Egg producers and handlers are concerned over how to generate more sales in the face of a U.S. government proposal which is aimed at bridling daily per capita egg consumption. Leaders in the egg industry are urging all producers and handlers to voice their opposition to the plan by writing to their senators and congressmen. Comments on the matter will also be received for the next four weeks by William G. Boling, manager of the Child Nutrition Programs, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Segments of agriculture, particularly those involved in egg production and marketing, are stunned by USDA's recent proposal to limit the use of eggs in school lunch programs to no more than three per week. (See Lancaster Farming's Sept. 24 issue, page 122 and this week, page 107.)

James P. Fleming, vice president, government relations, for United Egg Producers, says: "We're treating this recommendation as the worst possible blow to the egg industry. It parallels the old American Heart Association recommendation which has been in dispute since first published in 1961. For the USDA, an agency which is supposed to help farmers,

Cow pastures spared nuclear bomb residue

SOUTHAMPTON - The radioactive cloud from an atomic bomb detonated recently by Red China has passed over eastern portions of the United States without affecting milk or pastures. A spokesman at Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative, which has monitored the situation continuously, says its laboratories have found no evidence of milk being contaminated with nuclear radiation. The dairy cooperative will continue to test members' milk and advise of changes. There is no threat to cows may continue to graze on pastures.

New Holland Dairy

New Holland Sales Stables

Wednesday, Sept. 21, 1977
Reported receipts of 143 cows and 61 heifers. Market lower than last week's market.

Load of Maryland springers 460-630; 2 leads of New York purebreds and grades 510-1100, springers 675-1125; load of Pa. fresh 670-800; local cows 450-900, springing heifers 500-675; open heifers 225-390.

Oops....

In last week's article about Dorset sheep, a formula was given for feed. The correct formula should read:

300 lb. of 44 per cent soybean oil meal
300 lb. bran
800 lb. crimped oats
400 lb. corn chop
150 lb. molasses
18 lb. minerals
18 lbs. salt

Do you like to shop around for pullets?

On what do you base your decisions? The quoted 20 week old price?

Here's a few pertinent questions to ask yourself about your last delivery:

1. Did the quoted price include delivery?
2. Were the birds fed to optimum body weight?
3. How many pounds of feed did they consume to reach 50% production?
4. At what age did they reach 50% large eggs?

Once you know these facts you are ready to do some intelligent buying.

From chick to cage, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Do you have an open mind?
Are you ready to devote an hour or two of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual operation.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your birds. Whether you grow chicks or buy started pullets. The type of equipment you use. The production potential of your flock. Your management practices. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

With the aid of computers,
we then design a feeding program
specifically tailored to your birds needs—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, when we recommended producers switch from a competitive 18% protein feed to an optimum-nutrient density

Pennfield feed, there was no loss in production—and this one recommendation has saved
as much as $12,000 a year depending on flock size.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service.
But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us.
Do it today.

SEPT. 26-Oct. 2, 1977

Days of gold, not too cold.

Night equals day this week Ford introduced Model "T" Oct. 1, 1908 Full moon Sept. 27. Average length of days for the week, 11 hours, 51 minutes. U.S. Navy stopped flogging this week in 1850. First World Series started Oct. 1, 1903, Boston versus Pittsburgh. One man with courage makes a majority (Andrew Jackson).

Ask the Old Farmer: Could you explain the expression "the goose hangs high"? My grandfather used it, and I believe he meant everything was o.k. W.N., Albany, N.Y.

Part of the expression "everything is lovely and the goose hangs high," meaning all is hunky dory. Some say the correct word is "honks" high, indicating high flight under high clouds and, hence, probably fair weather. We say the word is "hang," indicating not only high flight in fair skies, but also a view of the earth below from a point clean out of gunshot, in other words — safety.

Home Hints: Mint scattered around their haunts drives away mice.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Very warm and rainy through Friday; week's end sunny and hot.

Greater New York — New Jersey: Sunny, thunderstorms and hot through Friday; clear and very warm through weekend.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Heavy rain to start, then tapering to light rain Thursday, expect warm and clear weekend.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny, very warm with a few showers through Friday, week's end sunny, hot with heavy showers west.

The case for the sack lunch

If this country were still a nation where meals are planned at home, rather than on boxtops or not at all, we wouldn't have to be at all concerned about the government stepping in as a self-proclaimed expert on food.

My mother knows how to cook, and she'll keep right on serving wholesome and delicious meals in her own way, no matter how the government tries to influence her cooking. My wife won't be disturbed by USDA recommendations either. For that matter, neither will countless other housewives and cooks.

Unfortunately, there are enough kitchens in the U.S. where meal planning and related culinary talents are pathetically poor. A generation or two of Americans have been living out of tin cans, boxes, cellophane bags, and bottles. To some degree, most of us have been served so-called "junk food." Convenience has overshadowed nutrition. Quick service is our lifestyle. A lot of people don't know much about cooking or good nutrition. It's these individuals -- and that may well be the majority of Americans -- who will be swayed by governmental menu suggestions. They don't know any better and are looking for help.

What the government is trying to do in suggesting dietary plans may very well have the best intentions. Evidently, they've seen a need for it as too many of our people broaden their lazy streak and wait for Uncle Sam to give them this or that. The government is getting control or attempting to gain control of all sorts of things. Frankly, what I eat is none of their business. And I resent the idea of USDA trying to tell the public what good eating is. It's very unfortunate, however, that there are millions of people who apparently need such guidance.

The government's involvement with nutritional programs is particularly disturbing since some suggestions are being made which can't be substantiated. The most obvious of these is the proposal to limit egg consumption. Numerous studies have shown that eggs aren't bad for you. In fact, there are a number of studies which conclude they're very, very good for you. Indeed, there is some evidence that eggs contain substances -- such as cholesterol, surprisingly enough -- which act as preventive medicine against certain illnesses, including cancer. But how much propaganda does the government churn out on that? None.

USDA's proposals are just that so far. They have not been implemented. However, there is a similar program going on in 15 of Chicago's elementary schools.

According to the Chicago Tribune menu modifications in these Chicago schools include the use of margarine instead of butter, reduced amounts of cheese and eggs, and cooking practices that reduce fat. Reconstituted non-fat dry milk will be used for cooking and meats and poultry will be served with fat-modified gravies.

The program is a joint effort of the Chicago Board of Education medical services bureau and food services curriculum department of the Chicago Heart Association.

It looks as though we're getting some good reasons for sending our kids to school with a bagged lunch.

LIFE on the farm

By DIETER KRIEG

A number of accounts have been written and told about men competing against machines, and or time. Life on the farm wouldn't be complete without such activities.

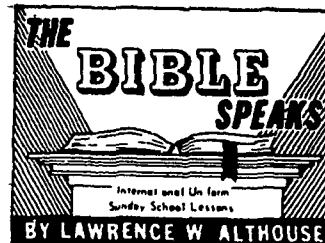

For example, there's the story -- reportedly witnessed by 200 people near Mercersburg in Franklin County -- about a husky 30-year old man taking a specially made scythe and cutting 12½ acres of wheat in a single day. The feat reportedly took place on July 12, 1858 on the former Adam Hoke farm. The man who accomplished it was 230-pound, 6-foot-3 Michael Cromer.

I never gained enough skill or experience with a scythe to want to ever compete with it. My grandfather was the expert with that. But tossing hay bales and moving corn silage by hand always proved to be good challenges. I generally looked forward to such work as tests of strength, endurance and speed. Work which would otherwise have been boring was thus turned into fun, and any victories against steel and rubber were always especially satisfying.

When we hauled hay in from the field, for example, we did just that. The modern kick baler hadn't become popular yet, and the common practice of pulling a wagon along behind a baler just wasn't fast

LOVE, LTD.

Lesson for September 25, 1977

Background Scripture:
Luke 6:27-36; Philimon.
Devotional Reading:
Matthew 5:38-48.

In the United States we use the designation, "incorporated," or Inc. While in Great Britain and those parts of the world influenced by British culture and commerce, the term "Limited," or Ltd. is used. The concept behind the terms is that the liability of the shareholders is limited to the extent of the shares they hold. Their responsibility goes only so far.

Love your enemies
It often seems to me that many Christians react in much the same way to the love ethic of Jesus Christ: they acknowledge the command to love one another, but only within certain narrow limits. Their love goes only so far.

Of course Jesus himself realized that tendency in human nature. In the Sermon on the Plain he calls people to discard the limitations with which they surround their experience of giving and receiving love. In fact, for most of us, that experience may be so limited that what we experience hardly deserves the name of love.

For example, says Jesus, it is no great achievement to love someone who loves us in return. When we love on the basis of getting back an equal amount of what we have given, or when we think only in terms of giving to the degree that we have first received, we are missing out on the real meaning of love. "If you love those who love you," he says, "what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them" (6:32). The best kinds of relationships are those in which we are willing to give without thought of what we are receiving. Isn't that what the cross was all about?

Enlarging the circle
Furthermore, our circle of loving is much too narrow. If we are truly to know the power of love, we must learn to love our enemies too: "...do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you" (6:28).

It is hard for me to read these words of our Lord, for they are continually a searing judgement both upon my own life and upon the church. It is only with rare exceptions that we have come even close to ex-

TO PUT TERMS IN WRITING

During the fall and winter season many farm transactions and leases will be developed. Whether it be the terms of a sale or some lease or rent agreement, we strongly suggest that interested parties do not depend upon a verbal agreement. We realize that obligations in writing may not make an honest person out of one who wants to be dishonest, but there will be less danger of misunderstandings, if all persons have a copy. The written document does not have to be a complicated item, but should clearly state the obligations of each party, and be signed by all concerned. Don't think that there will not be any chance of a mis-understanding, because it has happened many times.

TO TOP-DRESS ALFALFA STANDS

On many farms the last cutting of alfalfa has been made, or will be made during early October. This means that the plant roots may be needing extra phosphorus and potash in order to give maximum yields next summer. We suggest a top-dressing of a phosphorus-potash fertilizer, periencing this kind of love. Most of us congratulate ourselves when we love our own families, a few friends and have a generally cordial regard for a limited circle of others. Many deny Christ's command to love their enemies, declaring it utterly unrealistic. Beyond that, there is so much evident hostility and outright hatred in our society, even among his followers.

Isn't it tragic that we Christians, for all our fine churches, for all our doctrines, liturgies, and traditions, still, very largely, eke out a threadbare existence on an experience of a limited love that bears little resemblance to the dynamic power that gave birth to the Gospel?

such as 0-15-30 or 0-20-20 this fall after the last cutting is harvested. Alfalfa plants are heavy feeders of these elements, especially potash, and the fall top-dressing is strongly suggested. In addition, a similar fertilizer application should be made next spring either when the plants starts to grow in April, or immediately after removal of the first cutting. Quality hay is a very high-priced farm product these days, and every effort should be made to harvest maximum tonnage.

TO WINTERIZE FARM BUILDINGS

Fall is here and soon we will be having colder weather. Many barns will be filled with livestock. The problem of proper ventilation and insulation should be recognized before the walls and ceilings begin to sweat and drip on the livestock. Sufficient insulation above the confined beef or dairy cows is often lacking. In free-stall barns or open sheds this is not a problem, except some vents in the roof or ceiling may be needed to move out the warmer, moisture-laden air. These efforts may not help the national energy-saving effort, but will result in more healthy livestock, longer life to farm buildings, and greater efficiency.

TO APPLY LIME BEFORE WINTER GRAIN SEEDING

Many fields of winter grain such as wheat or barley may be seeded down to clover or alfalfa next spring. If these soils need lime, that application should be made and worked into the topsoil before the grain is seeded this fall. This will get the lime into the soil where it will have a chance to be working until next summer. The practice of top-dressing the winter grain with lime next winter or spring is not a good one; the lime does not have a chance to do much good before the small legume plants get started. Successful alfalfa and clover seedings start with meeting lime requirements.

Fred Funk, Millersville, who grows three and a half acres of pumpkins, began his harvesting last week. He calls his harvest very good, with healthy vines, and having enough rain over the summer months to get by. He noted that his pumpkins are a medium size with a good orange color to them.

When talking about the growing season, Funk noted that this year he sprayed his fields with more fungicide, but he felt there were no real problems in his fields.

Adams County apple festival will feature old-fashioned processing, products, and fun

GETTYSBURG - Adams County is traditionally a beautiful and historic location at any time of the year, but particularly during the peak of the Fall foliage and apple harvesting season. The historically rich Gettysburg Battlefield is set among a lush carpet of gently rolling farmland surrounded by the magnificent splendor and color of some of the most productive orchards in the country.

Each year, the beauty and productivity of Adams County's farmland is climaxed by the harvesting of over 4 billion bushels of crisp, tasty, colorful apples. To celebrate the occasion, the 13th annual Apple Harvest Festival will be held the first two weekends in October at the South Mountain Fairgrounds 10 miles north of Gettysburg in the heart of "Apple Capital, U.S.A."

Apple products, made the old fashioned way, are just the beginning of a taste tempting fun-filled day at the festival for young and old alike. Apple cider is made by a 100 year old cider press. You can sample hot apple butter, fresh from a copper kettle, on homemade bread. For something different, you may want to tantalize your taste buds with a stack of apple pancakes topped by one of three different varieties of apple syrup. Or after you have worked up an appetite from all of the savory aromas, you can try chicken barbecue dinner, an ox roast sandwich, or other delicious foods. To top off the meal, there are many delicious apple desserts, say organizers of the event.

Displays and attractions abound to amuse and occupy all age groups. Children might enjoy the free steam engine rides, or apple bobbing, apple rolling and apple pie eating contests conducted by Johnny Applesseed. Old timers and antique buffs might enjoy the displays of antique cars, steam engines, gasoline engines and an operating shingle mill. The ladies might enjoy browsing through several buildings filled with artisans, craftsmen, and antique dealers demonstrating and selling their wares.

Mellinger receives Hall of Fame award

LANCASTER - Ernest H. Mellinger, R2, Quarryville has been named recipient of the Hall of Fame award by Hoffman Seeds, Inc. The presentation by the Landisville seed company was made at Sherwood Knoll Dining Room recently, during the firm's annual sales conference. Mellinger is a Lancaster County sales representative for Hoffman. The presentation was made by Robert W. Adams, Hoffman District manager, for "outstanding contributions in sales and service" during the past year.

Of the more than 500 company seed men in 13 states, only 31 have met the qualifications to receive this coveted award. The recipient receives an engraved plaque, and his photograph is hung with those of other winners in the special Hall of Fame display at company headquarters in Landisville.

Earl G. Martin, Ephrata R2, swept the tractor driving contests at the Ephrata Fair on Tuesday evening.

Martin tractor driving champ

EPHRATA - For the second time in two years, Earl G. Martin, Ephrata R2, walked away with two trophies in the adult tractor driving contest held at the Ephrata Fair. This year the 34-year-old Ephrata R2 farmer racked up only 55 points to win the standard tractor driving contest. He also took the championship title in the two-hitch backing contest revitalizing a winning streak he had going for two years then lost last year. This year eight contestants competed.

Runner-up to Martin in both events was Harvey Sauder, New Holland R1, a former county and state plowing champion.

In the tractor driving contest, Thomas Zartman, Ephrata R1, was third, and Clark Stauffer, also Ephrata R1, fourth.

Stauffer was the second runner-up in the two-hitch backing event, with Phil Leininger, Denver R2, placing fourth.

Why TMR for cows in confinement stall barns? To get more milk and profit! Proof: in six confinement housed herds placed on TMR and fed with the Model 780, cows averaged 2.7 lbs. per day MORE milk to deliver a healthy milk check boost. And with the Model 780, the dairyman reduced feeding chore time by over half an hour a day!

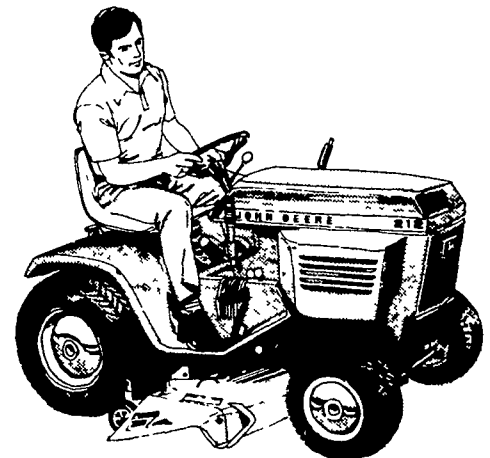

The Model 780 is electrically powered and self-propelled. Three battery-fed electric motors provide power for propulsion, feed mixing, and feed discharge. Only 32 inches wide and 60 inches tall, the cart is easily guided down narrow alleyways.

significantly higher. About 80 per cent are now eligible for certification.

Anyone who hasn't taken steps yet to become certified is urged to do so soon, lest he be sent home from the store without his chemicals the next time he wants to control insects or weeds.

There's still time to take the test, which leads to certification by the Department of Agriculture. Private applicators may take their tests at home. Commercial applicators receive a proctored examination and must pay at $30 license fee, as well as post evidence that they are prepared for personal liability and property damage claims to as high as $100,000 each.

Although the state and federal deadline for becoming a certified applicator of restricted chemicals is Oct. 21, no one is outside of that law unless he sells or makes use of restricted chemicals after that date without certification. In other words, if the farmer has no intention of using a product such as Paraquat until next Spring, he has until then to make sure he gets certified. Paraquat is one of 23 pesticides on restricted use, as ordered by the Environmental Protection Agency of the U.S. Government. Another 38 chemicals are up for comment on the matter. Pennsylvania identifies its restricted use chemicals with a skull and crossbones and the word DANGEROUS on the label.

Steps towards certification are easy, say officials who are involved with the program. The Extension Service of Penn State University has charge of educating the public on the matter, and will also provide testing materials. Along that line, meetings will be held on Oct. 13 and 27 at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center to offer commercial applicators the opportunity to take the test. Commercial pesticide applicators are those who do custom spraying or those who spray outside the realm of actual agricultural production. Examples are handlers and millers, golf course operators, and fumigators.

Dr. Jerry Florentine, pesticide operations coordinator with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, says his Department estimates that 20,000 to 25,000 people within the Commonwealth may find that private pesticide certification is for them. Some 13,000 have taken steps towards that end. The remainder are either working on it or have thus far ignored the program. Florentine emphasizes, however, that these figures are just guesses. Extension offices at Penn State can't be any more specific than that.

A telephone survey conducted by Lancaster Farming on Thursday evening revealed that only about 30 per cent of potential private pesticide users have taken steps to become certified. Calls were made at random throughout southeastern and southcentral Pennsylvania.

Some of the reasons cited for not having taken steps towards certification as of yet included: "didn't get around to it ... don't know if I'm using anything which requires certification ... I don't know where to go to be certified ... I haven't had time to take the test ... there's no spraying to be done now anyway ... I didn't hear too much about it ... and I don't know if it's really necessary."

Certification is indeed necessary if an individual intends to use restricted chemicals after Oct. 21. Further information on how to go about getting certification can be found in latter portions of this article.

Reaction to the certification program is divided about half favorable and half unfavorable, Lancaster Farming's survey determined. One farmer said: "This is just one more control that the government is stepping in on; it's a bother but I guess it has its good points too. They're trying to do good, but sometimes it destroys the private sector, I think." Another indicated he thought it was a "little foolish, farmers are educated enough to know what they're doing. This is just something more for them to have to bother with ... we have enough to do as it is. If these chemicals are so dangerous, they shouldn't be on the market in the first place. We can read the label and follow instructions without the government telling us how." A third farmer said "I'm against more government regulations, but I'll live with this if I have to, although I rather wouldn't see it that way." Others questioned the necessity of the program.

Most, however, don't complain and are resigned to "just complying with the law."

The new pesticide law, which has been in the works for several years, also covers those individuals who

Hog price a record at Ephrata Fair

EPHRATA - John "Ron" Zimmerman, 19, earned $680.40 last Thursday evening for his champion Duroc market hog at the Ephrata Fair. That's $680.40 that he plans to funnel back into a new Nebraska-type swine finishing house that he and his father, John R. Zimmerman, are building on their 115-acre farm near Ephrata R1. The buyer of the champion hog was a local firm - Chet Long Real Estate, 120 Lake Street, Ephrata, Pa., paying $3.15 per pound. That price is the best ever recorded at the Ephrata Fair, and 65 cents above last years high price.

Two days previous to the market hog sale, Zimmerman showed his 216 pound homebred Duroc to the champion over 11 classes of junior market hogs which totaled 53 entries. Zimmerman, who earlier this year was named the FFA state swine proficiency winner and later went on to attain the status of second in the Eastern Region in that same area, is a graduate of Ephrata High School and is now in partnership with his father. He owns 14 sows, the majority of which are Duroc.

Although he's received considerable recognition for his developing abilities with swine, this win was his first grand championship title. He did show the champion lightweight animal of the junior market hog show at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show however.

Richard Strauss, Ephrata R1, showed the reserve grand champion of the Ephrata show - a graduation present from his employers, Dutch Valley Farms, Manheim.

Strauss, who is in partnership with his brothers Steve and Bob, received $2.20 per pound for his 218 pound Duroc-Hampshire cross bred by Dutch Valley Farms. Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, Pa., was the buyer, paying $479.60 to the brothers for one animal.

The Strauss's however, had the lightweight and heavyweight champions, as well. They received $1.05 per pound for their lightweight champion and .81 per pound for their heavyweight.

Ron Zimmerman, Ephrata R1, right, received $3.15 per pound for his champion market hog of the Ephrata Fair. Chet Long, left, bought the animal for a total of $680 on Thursday evening.

The brothers, who are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strauss, Ephrata R1 plan to reinvest their proceeds in breeding stock.

Avid showmen, they have animals set aside for the Keystone Livestock Exposition, the Manheim Farm Show, and the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Mike Pfautz, Stevens R1, who had the lightweight reserve champion received .95 per pound for his animal, while Judy Zimmerman, Ephrata R1, commanded .82 per pound for her reserve champion heavyweight.

The sale average without the champions was $55.50 per hundredweight. Randall Kline, Stevens R1, was the auctioneer for the 55 head.

The two pig chase animals were also sold. The 65 pounder caught by Todd Howell went for $45 and was purchased by Richard Bollinger. Robert Martin, Ephrata R1, caught the 110 pound pig which was sold Thursday evening for $65 to Allen Ackley, Lititz R1.

Other buyers for the sale were H. D. Matz, Brownstown Bank, Penn Packing, New Holland Sales Stables, Walter M. Dunlap and Sons,

Dairy clubs consider new approach

CHAMBERSBURG - Franklin County dairy clubs are currently debating an idea which would mean withdrawing the County's 4-H dairy roundups from the County Fair and having it earlier in the Summer in conjunction with other 4-H roundups of all sorts. It's thought that this idea will open up "many possibilities" for expanding time and barn space from Monday to Wednesday of Fair Week. (The Franklin County Fair this year was held from Aug. 21-27.)

According to reports submitted during a directors' meeting of the Franklin County 4-H Dairy Council on Sept. 13, it's also believed that the proposed move will allow Guernsey exhibitors more time to "get settled in and ready for their show." Also, other kinds of livestock could be housed and shown on an open and 4-H basis as the Guernsey and Holstein shows are held. There could be goats, sheep, swine, rabbits, and poultry.

The 4-H roundups could be a two to three day combination of all the roundups that would agree to combine time, space, and forces. Without the commercialism of a midway, 4-H's attention would be focused on their own projects and many other interesting ones that they can observe and learn from. There are many new 4-H projects in Franklin County, and many that have never really been presented to the public.

Some reasons to keep the Dairy Roundup in the fair were that the animals would have to be readied, trucked, and stayed with two separate weeks instead of one, and the beef and swine roundups are now being held at auction barns to take advantage of commercial buyers. Final decision will be withheld until further discussion.

President Roy Crodehl asked for discussion about the county's 4-H dairy calf sale. The sale, to date, has been open only to 4-H's, FFA members, and junior dairy breed members from age 8 to 21, residing in Franklin County. They must each bid on the calf they wish to purchase for a project. The object is to teach them how to follow an auctioneer, use a sale catalog, bid properly, and know the value of individual calves, based upon type and pedigree. A decision was made to have the sale again this year and keep the rules the same.

Franklin County's 4-H Dairy Bowl Team, which won first place at State Days, will represent Pennsylvania at V.P.I. in Virginia, September 24 in the Second Annual Junior Dairy Bowl. The team members are Paul Cashell, Jesse Reichard, Marion Crider, and Mary Ann Johnson. The 4-H Dairy Council will finance travelling and lodging expenses for the four team members and their two chaperones - Eugene and Carol Schurman.

There will be a county-wide 4-H fitting and showing clinic early next Summer. Plans are underway.

The next board meeting will be held October 13.

The deadly piranha fish of the Amazon's waters can turn man or beast to bones with its deadly jaws and razor-sharp teeth. Yet, piranhas are wonderful parents to their young. The females lay their eggs on aquatic vegetation. The males fertilize the eggs and then stay in the neighborhood while the hundreds of eggs hatch. No passing fish would dare to snack on baby piranhas with papa piranhas hanging around.

Human nature has its ups and downs, as everyone knows. But using a theory known as biorhythms you may be able to plot your highs and lows accurately. When you're low - physically, emotionally or intellectually - you tend to feel fatigued, depressed, and slow-witted. Some of these days are called "crisis days" - when you should be particularly alert. According to its proponents, a biorhythm chart can pinpoint the days when you should be especially careful.

By JOANNE SPAHR

EPHRATA - Barbara Herr, 14, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Herr, Narvon R2, made close to a clean sweep of all the top placings in the Ephrata Fair Lamb Show on Wednesday.

All told, Miss Herr walked away with the champion rosettes in the market lamb, pen of three wethers, and on-foot carcass contests. She was also named the champion sheep showman and fitter in the third and fourth year sheep showmanship and fitting contests.

Teaming up her winnings with those of her brother and sister gave the Herr family quite an impressive record for the day.

Barbara's brother Christian, 15, showed the reserve champion market lamb, and 10-year-old

Margaret earned the reserve champion trophy for the pen of three wethers. In the senior showmanship and fitting contest, Christian, a six-year-showman, took both honors.

According to Barbara, who shows Suffolks, the family members trade off breeds from year to year. As a whole, she says she prefers Dorsets for breeding sheep and Suffolks for market animals. The Herrs raise approximately 50 Dorset breeding ewes and each child has one or two of his own animals in this breed.

Barbara's champion market lamb at Ephrata was also the grand champion wether at the York Fair. Along with York, Barbara has also shown at the Solanco Fair, where, with her sister, the Herr's won all the classes in the Dorset breed.

The Garden Spot freshman, was showing her FFA projects in the competition at Ephrata, and plans to take the three market Suffolks to Timonium, Md. for the Eastern Nationals, or possibly onto the Keystone Exposition. Barbara's also preparing a pen for Farm Show. Barbara, Christian, and Margaret pick up much of their knowledge of showing market lambs from their father.

Christian's Hampshires (his breed for the year) were also FFA projects, and Margaret's reserve champion pen of three market lambs was a 4-H project. This year Margaret got to show the family favorites - Dorsets.

The reserve champion on-foot carcass lamb went to Richard Strauss, Ephrata R1, with a crossbreed.

One class in fitting and showing eluded the Herr family members. In the first and second year contest, Andy Dittick, Lititz R1, placed as champion showman and Gary Martin took the rosette for champion fitter.

Judge for the junior market lamb show was William MacCauley, Atglen. He judged the animals a second time - on the rail - on Thursday at John F. Martin & Sons, Inc., Stevens R1. The animals were then sold at auction on Friday.

Results from the show follow:

Market Lambs

Cheviot - Barry Martin, East Earl R1, first and second; Dorset - Margaret Herr, Narvon R2, first and second; Hampshire -

HARRISBURG - For years, Pennsylvanians have considered the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show to be one of the finest in the country. Any doubt of that should be dispelled by a visit to this year's 14th annual edition of the event, September 26-30 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

The All-American has taken on a distinctly international flavor this year, right down to an international visitors reception on Thursday evening. Tours will be offered to foreign visitors throughout the week and visits from officials and dairymen from around the world have been encouraged.

The All-American is proud to be host this Fall for the Eastern National Ayrshire Show. This is the first time the Ayrshire Breeders Association has approved the PAA for its Eastern National Show.

The addition of the Eastern National Ayrshire Show brings the total of National shows at the All-American to three, joining the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show and the Eastern National Holstein Show.

As always, the Pennsylvania All-American opens first thing Monday morning with a special emphasis on youth. The Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show includes competition in all six breeds with 4-H and FFA entries in judging events. Approximately 650 entries are expected for the show, with the top three winners in each class eligible for entry in the breed competition later in the week.

Monday also brings the Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest with state champion 4-H and FFA teams as well as intercollegiate teams meeting to compete for cash premium and trophies.

The six All-American breed shows begin Tuesday morning with the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show and the All-American Milking Shorthorn Show. A new feature for Tuesday's program is the Pennsylvania Holstein Fall Championship Show, intended as a state final in the series of Holstein district and regional shows in the Commonwealth.

Wednesday brings competition in the Eastern National Ayrshire Show and the All-American Guernsey Show. The All-American Jersey Show opens Thursday morning, sharing the spotlight with the first day of competition in the Eastern National Holstein Show.

The All-American wraps up on Friday with milking and group classes in the Holstein Show. Over 2,400 entries are expected in all breeds at the show. Last year, more than 2,300 entries from 22 states and two Canadian provinces were represented in the six breed shows.

Another top spectator event is always an invitational breed sale, and this year, the Pennsylvania All-American features two: The Invitational Brown Swiss Sale, Monday evening at 7 p.m. and the Invitational Holstein Sale, beginning at 5 p.m. Thursday.

On top of a lot of good dairy cattle, the All-American Week will put the spotlight on the 21st annual Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation at the Dairy Show Recognition Banquet at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Reigning Princess Peggy Staub of Newville, Cumberland County will be on hand to crown her successor.

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of the Pennsylvania State Farm Show Commission.

definitely have an impact on the restaurant business. Leaders of Pennsylvania's egg industry tend to agree and are generally optimistic about the program's potential success.

Some of the enthusiasm with the project is cancelled out, however, by official U.S. government efforts which suggest per capita egg consumption be held at certain levels, rather than increased. Details on that appear in a separate article beginning on page 1 and is the subject of this week's editorial comment, found on page 10.

At a meeting last Friday which was billed as "A Date with an Egg," members of the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association had the opportunity to view the premier presentation of the completed 20-minute slide and sound show. Initiated by a committee of Pennsylvania egg marketing members, and produced by a Chicago advertising firm under the direction of the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association and the American Egg Board, the program is specifically aimed at the restaurant trade.

According to information released at last week's meeting, the Pennsylvania Restaurant Association includes institutional kitchens in its membership, such as hospitals, colleges, and retirement homes. Getting the story of the "incredible edible egg" to those people is thought to be an opportunity which the egg industry would not overlook.

William Patterson, general manager of Weaver's, New Holland, and a member of the panel which conceived the program, says: "Opportunities in food service are incredible ... what was formed here is part of our national program, we must use it and get involved."

Egg industry leaders were told last Friday evening that the retail food industry this year will have sales of around $88 billion, of which half is in the area of food services such as restaurants and institutional cafeterias. More important, say egg marketing specialists, is that the restaurant portion of food retailing is growing faster than other segments of the retail food trade. This gives the eggmen their incentive to capture a part of that market, and according to them, no other single item is more suitable for it than the egg. It can be used in a wide variety of foods, is easily handled and stored, and available at low cost. That is the thrust of the promotional message they'll be aiming at restaurant associations across the state. Aside from that, the slide and sound show will offer serving suggestions, new ideas, and possible incentives for profit. Written material will be made available at the time of the showings to further document and illustrate the egg industry's suggestions.

Eggs are not just for breakfast, the egg marketers proclaim. "They're an anytime food," they say, citing the product's high versatility. Pointing out McDonald's Egg McMuffin as one innovative idea which has captured a sizable portion of the breakfast market, eggmen insist that a variety of other ways can be found to utilize more eggs in more ways. Although they expressed admiration for the way the McDonalds restaurant chain has taken a product from ground zero to 325 million served last year, egg industry leaders would like to improve on that. Their suggestion: Make the Egg McMuffin available during all hours of the day, not just before 11 a.m., as is the case now.

When Pennsylvania's restaurant operators view the program at some of their upcoming meetings, they will not only be presented with entertainment and ideas. Education is a part of the presentation, as several aspects of egg production and processing are brought onto the screen. The egg business is explained in brief. Some facts which are released are that on today's modern chicken farms, eggs are not touched by human hands anywhere along the production and processing line, they're stored in temperature and humidity controlled rooms, and they're kept fresher because of it.

Pennsylvania, which ranks as the fourth largest egg-producing state in the Union, and the other three leading states, produce a third of all the eggs in the United States. Egg industry leaders in this part of the country wish to have their markets expanded through promotional programs such as this one. They claim that restaurateurs are looking for and need ideas.

"A Date with an Egg" is a concept they'd like to see catch on all over the state and all over the country. The men who served on the committee to initiate the program were: Fred Pontz, marketing manager for Pennfield Farms; Ed Lawless, secretary of the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association; Kermit Birth, Penn State economist; John Hoffman, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation; Bill Patterson, general manager of Weaver's Poultry; Bob Trout, producer-dealer; Carl Weibley, general manager of Carlisle Poultry and Egg Co.; Robert Park, Park Products of Pittsburgh, and Larry Kegerris, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Campbell-Mit-hun, Inc., a Chicago-based advertising firm, produced the program.

A Hydro-Heater Franklin will cut your fuel costs... Can heat your whole house, even when it's zero outside!

A 1 1/4" water jacket surrounds the fire on back, sides and bottom. This allows you to place the Hydro-Heater Franklin within 6" of any wall or partition, because the outside temperature never exceeds 210°.

Directional flow tubing captures the heat that is normally lost up the flue. 65% of the heat collected in Hydro-Heater is absorbed by the tubing section. This heat is then transferred to your existing heating system.

Emergency meeting

CHICAGO, Ill.—Farm Bureau leaders from 21 states have recommended that Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF), seek an immediate meeting with President Carter and Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland to discuss the deteriorating grain market situation.

The farm leaders listed more than 20 topics to be discussed in a meeting of Grant, Carter and Bergland. The action came in an "emergency" AFBF grain conference at the O'Hare Hilton on Tuesday.

Conference participants ask that Grant emphasize to President Carter and Bergland the seriousness of the price and income situation in agriculture and related industries, especially in the wheat and feed grains producing areas. Wheat prices have dropped almost 50 percent compared to last year.

They asked that Grant request that a more positive attitude be placed on expanding exports; that action be taken to open new export markets; and recommended expansion of Public Law 480 (Food for Peace program).

Among other things, the farm leaders asked Grant to seek a feed grain acreage set-aside large enough to be meaningful and effective and price supports on wheat and feed grains at levels to permit the U. S. to be competitive in world markets.

enough for us. So Dad, my brother, and I would let the man with the baler get a good head start, and then we'd come in and pick the bales off the ground. My own personal objectives was always to try to get as many rows as possible without having to get anyone to wait for me. Six rows of bales was usually tops, unless the bales were particularly light. We worked like crazy. Special satisfaction came when the baler came by and we were caught up far enough to actually pull the bales right out of the machine without missing what was already on the ground.

One day, after having loaded hay with our hired man, Marvin, at a farm about two miles from home, I decided to take on a challenge of a different kind: racing the tractor and wagon home on foot. That was a real experience but I only ever did it once. I can still vividly remember being thoroughly exhausted on the front lawn and watching with considerable satisfaction as the tractor and load came rolling in.

My brother, Ingo, and I used to refer to ourselves as human augers during corn chopping time. Either one of us could move silage non-stop. That particular contest doesn't just offer the reward of feeling good about winning, it punishes harshly if you lose.

Here's how it worked; The silo was nearly full, in fact too full to have silage distributed mechanically. So we'd take out the equipment and one of us had the job of distributing the silage within the 18-foot diameter silos. Faltering on this job meant plugging the pipe, and no one enjoys the consequences of that. I always got a kick out of moving the silage away from the pipe a little faster than it was coming in, and then having a little bit of time to hang out the opening in the roof and holler down to Marvin that he was going way too slow. That made the next few tons of silage just that much tougher to handle, and any victories just that much more satisfying.

Life on the farm wouldn't be the same without such contests, especially if opportunities for other types of competition are limited. It was fun.

THERMA•STOR A SUCCESS STORY

A WINNING PRODUCT is DECO's Thermo-Stor heat recovery system. The product was selected as one of the 10 best new products developed by Wisconsin industry in 1976. A contest was sponsored by the Wisconsin Governor's office and the National Society of Professional Engineers. Shown receiving the award from Governor Patrick J. Lucey, left, is DECO's Ken Gehring, Thermo-Stor product manager.

THERMA-STOR collects heat from a bulk milk cooler on a dairy farm and uses it to heat water for washing around the milk house and milking parlor. As such, it saves a great deal of energy for dairy farmers. Shown preparing to weld the top on a Thermo-Stor unit is Jim Miller.

TESTING FOR LEAKS is a crucial and exacting chore in the production of Thermo-Stor units. First the tank is filled with nitrogen under 750 lbs. of pressure and covered with a soap solution. If no leaks are discovered in that way, the nitrogen is taken out and freon substituted. Then a machine, operated in the photo by Jeff Larson, is used to discover even the tiniest freon leak.

SOLDERING a freon line on a Thermo-Stor unit is Edward Hurtz. Some of the Thermo-Stor production takes place at DECO's Plant 1 and some of it in Plant 2.

Heat Recovery System (HRS)

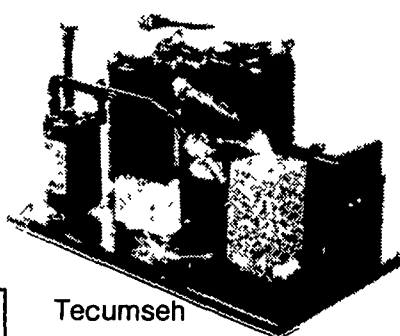

Designed to fit any existing system, the THERMA•STOR HRS is the ultimate example of energy conservation.

The THERMA•STOR HRS will produce all of your dairy hot water needs, without the use of electricity or fuel.

Conventional cooling systems use fan cooled condensers to remove the refrigerant heat. This wasted heat can now be saved with the use of the THERMA•STOR HRS. By replacing the fan cooled condensers with a THERMA•STOR, the heat from the hot refrigerant is transferred to cold water, which in turn becomes hot water. This process will heat about 1 gallon of water to about 110° for every gallon of milk being cooled. In addition, the THERMA•STOR produces and stores 1/3 of its capacity in Hot Water from 150° to 190°. (The precise temperature of water reached in this section is dependent upon total compressor H.P. and running time, see Chart for more details).

The THERMA•STOR HRS is available in two sizes: a single condenser, 100 gallon; or as a dual condenser, 170 gallon model. Both come equipped with male Aero-Quip fittings for use on existing systems or for use with a Tecumseh or Heavy-Duty Copelametic compressor.

Water does not go through the compressor. The water is heated by the refrigerant gas from the compressor. Your existing compressor can remain outside.

Pesticide deadline

sell restricted chemicals. After Oct. 21 a store operator must have special governmental permission to deal with restricted pesticides.

A part of a national program to clean up and safeguard the environment, the pesticide regulation was originally to have become law a year ago. The program ran into snags on the federal level, however, and a year's extension was granted. According to Florentine, that delay caused a loss of considerable momentum in this state, and the Commonwealth wants to be sure it doesn't happen again this year. He affirms there will be no postponement of the deadline. Pennsylvania will go ahead with its program whether the federal agencies are ready with theirs or not.

Despite the lack of response by some farmers, Florentine says response overall has been very positive and farmers who have been certified feel satisfied in knowing that there's a little more professionalism involved in pesticide application than there was previously. Those individuals who have taken the test and passed it are automatically on the list to receive certification notices. They'll be in the mail beginning next week, says Florentine.

Winand Hock, pesticide specialist at Penn State, points out that an individual may still apply restricted pesticides even though he is not certified as a private applicator. The catch is that he must then be supervised by someone who is certified.

Hock also points out that completing the exam and certification are not synonymous. Certification means receiving a piece of paper to that effect from the Department of Agriculture. Another point which should be clarified is that the two categories of applicators — private and commercial — do not hold for each other. Anyone who wants to be certified in both areas must take the test for both.

To obtain more information about the program, it's suggested that interested readers contact their local County Extension office, or D. Jerry Florentine, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120.

Study material on the subject is available from Penn State University through its correspondence course. Write: Correspondence Courses in Agriculture, Room 307, Agriculture Administration Building, University Park, Pa. 16802. Penn State is acting as the educational arm of the program, and also grades completed exams, but has no regulatory functions.

The 23 pesticides which EPA has declared on the restricted use list are: acrylonitrile, aldicarb, allyl alcohol, aluminum phosphide, azinphos methyl, demeton, endrin, ethyl parathion, fluoroacetamide-1081, hydrocyanic acid, methomyl, methyl bromide, methyl parathion, mevinphos, paraquat, picloram, and sodium cyanide.

Purebred Angus takes Ephrata Fair steer show

By JOANNE SPAHR

EPHRATA - A purebred Angus steer owned by Linda Martin, Narvon R1, went to the top of its class and onto the championship of the 4-H and FFA steer show held Thursday at the Ephrata Fair. Judge Henry Gruber, head of livestock procurement for Arbogast & Bastian, Allentown, chose Miss Martin's 1115 pound mediumweight steer over the heavyweight champion, a Simmental-Angus cross shown by Jeff Martin, New Holland R3.

Miss Martin, 15, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, is a seven year member of 4-H, showing her first champion this year after a reserve berth at Ephrata in 1970 when she first started in clubwork.

She purchased her animal "Harvey" from Sam Wylie, Octorara Farm, Nottingham R2, at a club calf sale held in the end of November last year. The steer, which Gruber termed "modern—the right frame of calf... not too tall... correct in lines with the kind of finish we're looking for," is being groomed for Farm Show where Linda has shown four out of six years.

Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Martin, New Holland R3, is in his last year of 4-H. "Henry", his Simmental-Angus, was purchased from Fred Frey, Quarryville R2, and is out of New York State. Although Martin has taken the reserve spot at the Ephrata Fair, now, for three years, this same cross took him to the grand championship berth at the New Holland Fair last year. He also had reserve grand champion at the 4-H district roundup in 1976. A 1976 graduate of Garden Spot High School, Martin is in farming with his father and is an auctioneer.

The champion of the lightweight class on Thursday evening went to Judy Zimmerman, Ephrata R1, with a Chianina-Angus cross. The reserve in that weight division went to Tony Everly, Denver R2, with a homebred Hereford.

Reserve mediumweight honors went to Betty Reiff, Lititz R1, with a Hereford-Simmental cross; and reserve heavyweight went to Linda High, 2490 Creek Hill Road, Lancaster.

WHAT'S NEW

In New Guinea, discovery of a plant that may rival the soybean. The "winged bean" is nutritious, will grow anywhere without fertilizer, is completely edible — seeds, pods, roots and leaves.

Egg industry upset by diet proposal

to recommend limiting eggs is inconceivable. It's difficult to believe that USDA could join the egg industry's adversaries when there is no proof of benefits."

Members of the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association, meeting here at the Sheraton-Conestoga last week, were equally upset by USDA's proposal. That organization recently completed a promotional program which is the first of its kind in the nation and is aimed at accomplishing exactly the opposite of what USDA is recommending. The USDA proposal has dampened some of the enthusiasm for the project, which was funded 50-50 by PEMA and the American Egg Board.

Fleming, who represents egg producers nationwide, says that USDA officials either do not realize the gravity of their recommendation or they are attempting to cloud the issue with informal replies thus far received. He notes that one official allegedly proclaimed: "...remember, this recommendation is for only five lunches per week. Surely, recommending eggs not to be used more than three out of five times is not all that bad." Another government man is reported to have stated: "Because of the relative lower cost of eggs compared to meats, the Department wanted to preclude the full use of eggs to just three per week. We're saying not to use eggs as a meat-meat alternative more than three times per week."

Just as egg producers and handlers — or others for that matter — might suspect, it has been admitted that the cholesterol issue is behind this proposal, and this recommendation, along with several others, are a direct result of the controversial Dietary Goals for the United States report. That document was released earlier this year by a Senate Select Committee on Human Nutrition and Needs and has been under fire ever since by agricultural leaders.

Aside from the recommendation on egg consumption, the USDA report also recommends: 1. include a vitamin A fruit or vegetable at least twice a week; 2. include a vitamin C vegetable or fruit several times a week; include several foods for iron each day; keep fat and sugar at a moderate level; and use iodized salt in food preparation.

Fleming charges that the egg limitation proposal goes beyond the recommendations of the National Research Council, which has reviewed school lunch programs. "The three eggs per week recommendation was not a part of the NRC's recommendations or those of the General Accounting Office which recently issued a report on the school lunch program," the UEP executive charges.

Egg leaders have mounted opposition drives to try and stop the proposal. Included in their efforts are letters to Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland. Producers and handlers are encouraged to join in the campaign.

Although the egg industry is treating the issue as an urgent matter, and makes no excuse for attacking it with all the might they can muster, the proposals by USDA are likely to be re-drafted by Jan. 1, 1978. Field testing will follow through April of next year and after that a set of final recommendations is expected. They'll become a part of the 1978-79 National School Lunch Program if everything stays on schedule.

Youth dairy show held at Gratz Fair

By JOANNE SPAHR

GRATZ - In youth dairy competition at the 104th annual Gratz fair, six breeds of cows were judged and three champion fitters and showmen were honored.

In Holstein competition, Donald Snyder, Pitman, showed his two-year-old 4-H animal to the grand championship title. The animal, with a production record of 16,000 pounds of milk and 540 pounds of fat, was bred by Snyder and was the reserve grand champion animal at the Schuylkill County 4-H roundup.

Matthew Martz, Dalmatia, the son of Byron Martz, showed his two-year-old Guernsey, Rose Ann, to the grand championship title of that breed.

The Ayrshire competition was led by Steven Shetterly, Millersburg R1, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shetterly. The top ranking animal was an intermediate calf, "Sycamore Meade Albi's Brita," bred by Earl Keefer and Donald Shetterly. This same animal was the grand champion at the Dauphin County 4-H Roundup.

In Jersey competition the grand champion and senior champion honors went to "Top-O-Hill Vedas Thanks," an animal belonging to Bruce Heller, Downingtown. Heller took nearly all the championship honors, relinquishing the junior championship title to another Top-O-Hill animal shown by Faith Lafferty, 12, Lykens R1. Miss Lafferty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lafferty.

As in the open class dairy animals, David Feidt, Millersburg R1, had the grand champion Brown Swiss, and Jody Matter showed the grand champion milking shorthorn.

At Tuesday's show, three other individuals were honored. One showman, one fitter and a fitter-showman were recognized as outstanding out of all the juniors.

Donald Buffington, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Buffington, Millersburg R1, was named champion showman-fitter. The 15-year-old has been showing seven years and is a member of the Upper Dauphin 4-H Dairy Club.

Rebecca Martz, 19, the daughter of Byron Martz, Dalmatia, was named champion showman. Becky, who is presently the SUN area dairy princess, has been showing animals for 10 years. She is a graduate of the Line Mountain High School where she has been a member of the Future Farmers of America for five years. At present, she is attending school for a computer technology in Pittsburgh.

Gratz open dairy show draws from several counties

Millersburg R1, Ayrshire; and Mildred Seeds, Downingtown, Jersey.

GRATZ - Six breeds of dairy cows were shown last Tuesday at the 104th annual Gratz Fair, here. Exhibitors drew heavily from Dauphin, Schuylkill, Northumberland, and Lebanon Counties, with other exhibitors from outside that area, as well.

In the Holstein open show Russel H. Miller, Tamaqua R3, showed the champion animal with his senior yearling "RHM Galaxy Silva." The animal was both junior champion and grand champion. Her sire was RHM Galaxy Star Dan and she was bred by Miller. Her other winnings include tie for the All Pennsylvania intermediate calf last year.

The Guernsey show was the largest in the dairy competition with Nelson Witmer, Dalmatia, taking the championship with his three-year-old.

The Ayrshire show rosette went to Earl Keefer, Millersburg R1, with his six-year-old "Sycamore Meade Counts Bess." The animal, classified 89, was sired by Count of Tolgate and bred by Keefer.

In Milking Shorthorn competition, Jody L. Matter Halifax took all the classes.

In Jersey competition, Mildred Seeds, Downingtown, showed the animal that had been the supreme cow, over all breeds at the Allentown Fair to the Gratz championship.

And David Feidt, Millersburg R1, age 12, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Feidt, showed his three-year-old "Rainy" to the top of the Brown Swiss Show.

White-water river rafting got its start when the end of World War II left a surplus of neoprene life rafts. Today, there are more than 125 professional outfitters running river trips with experienced guides. From placid passages to plunging rapids, there's rafting for beginners to experts. The Department of the Interior can provide you with a list.

Biblical accounts of the Flood are strikingly similar to legends of other cultures - from the Hopi Indians in the American Southwest to the Incas in the Peruvian Andes. Yet scientists have generally assumed the deluge was the local in scope, not universal. But the September Reader's Digest theorizes that a sudden melting of the ice caps in America and Europe could have produced a sea-level rise that circled the globe and produced a worldwide flood.

horse and pony show, garden tractor pull, and an antique car show plus an array of entertainment in the evenings.

The enthusiasm generated from this three-day event couldn't be matched by any other fair no matter what the size, according to several exhibitors who agreed it is these little fairs which teach the young how to show and encourages family participation.

DAIRY SHOW

There were no surprises in the outcome of the Holstein show held on Thursday. Highlighting the winners' circle again this year was Wendy Shaw and her younger brother, Steve. All of the Holstein honors were divided between the two of them. Wendy had the senior and grand champion, leaving Steve, junior and reserve junior champion as well as reserve senior and reserve grand champion.

Wendy's honors were won with her 2 year old, W-S Linden Lock RA Sutte, who also was grand champion at Allentown earlier in the show season. She plans to take her champion to the FFA State Show, the Fall Championship Show and the Eastern National Holstein Show next week.

Fourteen-year old Steve followed close behind with his aged cow, Jiji. Other Holstein exhibitors which gave the Shaws some competition were Martha and Naomi Herbert of Kutztown. Martha had the first place senior yearling and Naomi placed third with her two-year old. Sandra Moser of Oley, showed a second place junior calf and Kevin Hertzog, Oley, showed his senior yearling to third place. All other honors were divided between the Shaws.

Showing a few members of the Jersey breed were Ronald and Gary Kurtz of Milky Way Farms, Fleetwood. Gary, a 14-year old, showed at the Fair for the second time, this year taking junior champion honors with his junior yearling named Sunny Meadows Pompay Marjorie.

Following behind his brother to take reserve junior champion was Ronald Kurtz with his junior calf, Meadow View Sleepers Sugar. This was the first year for this 10-year old to be showing.

Duane Petersheim, 18, and a recent graduate of Oley Valley High School was fortunate enough to have the junior and reserve junior champions of the Guernsey show. Duane has shown at this fair before but not in recent years. However, he was named junior champion in both the Kutztown and Allentown Fairs this year.

Also showing Guernseys was William Zollers, Mertztown, who placed first in junior calves and second in junior yearlings. Sherri Zollers, Mertztown, had a second place junior calf while Jon Zollers, also of Mertztown placed third in that class. Jon also had a first place junior yearling. Gary Hauseman, Oley, placed second behind the junior champion in the senior yearling class.

Fourteen-year old Andy MacKay proudly took the lead in his ram lamb class and went on to win the grand champion ram honors with his Suffolk entry. He also had reserve champion ewe to complete his showing for this year. The judge for the event was Jim Diamond, vocational agriculture teacher from Ottsville.

HART - THE NEW WHEAT

Hart Wheat is a new variety, a high yielder, and a medium early type. It has very good straw, medium short in length and is a bearded wheat. The 1977 crop had a high test weight per bushel and averaged a 15 per cent increase in yield over Redcoat Wheat. Hart can be combined a few days ahead of Redcoat and is moderately resistant to Hessian Fly. Hart responds to fertilizer and management much like Redcoat. It is a wheat that you should check out.

Aflatoxin warning out in Md.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. - Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Young D. Hance is asking farmers and grain dealers to guard against Aflatoxin in corn now that harvest is in full swing.

The threat of Aflatoxin is greater this year because of drought, insect damage and other conditions during the growing season. A number of southern states including Florida, Alabama and Georgia, have already experienced widespread infestations in their corn crops.

Aflatoxin is a poisonous mold residue that can, in high quantities, ruin corn by making it unsafe for use as feedstuff for poultry, immature livestock, and dairy cattle.

Corn with Aflatoxin counts in excess of 20 parts per billion is considered unsafe for livestock and poultry feed ingredients by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration which bans such use.

Hancy says farmers and grain dealers should be on the alert for corn that could be infested.

"We need to know as soon as possible, if and where Aflatoxin infested corn shows up in the state. Such reports can be made to us by calling 301-269-2181, which is the telephone number of MDA's Marketing Division.

Our telephones will be manned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

"Farmers who store their own corn should make sure it is dried down to 13 per cent rather than the customary 15 per cent moisture.

"Dealers should use a blacklight test while receiving corn and make sure the corn they buy is quickly dried to at least 13 per cent moisture. Any suspect corn they do discover in their stocks, should be kept segregated from other grains and extra precautions taken to make sure it does not become moist again.

"USDA and FDA are now conducting crash programs investigating methods of detoxifying infested corn.

"I hope Aflatoxin does not present a major problem in Maryland this year, concluded Hance, "but it is one of those grim risks agriculture faces. We must take extra precautions this year in particular. It is urgent that MDA be informed of any incidents of infested corn should they appear."

A growing aflatoxin problem in Southeast states have prompted U.S. Department of Agriculture grain inspection officials to consider new grain inspection procedures for export corn.

HARRISBURG - Commonwealth National Bank, according to statistics compiled and released by the American Bankers Association (ABA), ranks as the leading bank in Pennsylvania for agricultural loans. On a nationwide basis, Commonwealth National Bank ranks 45th among the top 100 banks in total agricultural loans. The ABA report shows agricultural loans at Commonwealth National Bank totalled $33,598,000, as of December 31, 1976. The total includes loans made directly through the bank as well as through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Agri-Loan Corporation. As of June 30, 1977, the bank's consolidated agricultural loans totalled more than $36,000,000. Agri-Loan Corporation was formed in 1970, when the bank had $11,486,000 in agricultural loans.

In 1976, the subsidiary added more than 11 cents per share to the bank's net earnings of $3.50 per share, according to Robert P. Bucher of Lancaster, manager and treasurer of the subsidiary.

In a separate development, the Pennsylvania Bankers Association has reported the election of Bucher as chairman of its Agricultural Lending Committee for 1977-78.

Besides getting famous for all kinds of livestock, they are excellent to supply missing elements in the soil for larger healthier crops with less fertilizer. Releases nutrients in the soil. Loosens the ground, and resulting crops are healthier and better for livestock. Takes less feed. Apply on pasture and hay fields also. Use it in the fall for best results next year.

CLEAN ALFALFA WITHOUT SPRAYING plus high yields in the history of our soil conditioners and seed treatments for several years, with very little or no fertilizer except manure. Same for corn and grain. Get started to condition the soil, Fall is best. Dealers are wanted in other areas.

Restaurant crew her responsibility at Lampeter Fair

By SALLY BAIR
Feature Writer

When the last week of September rolls around Mrs. J. Wade Groff leaves her cucumbers and tomatoes on the vines at her 644 Beaver Valley Pike farm and heads for the Fair Restaurant at the Lampeter Fair. The tradition was begun by Evelyn 14 years ago, but the pace has increased in the last three years since she's been in charge of scheduling kitchen help.

The Fair Restaurant is run by the Board of Directors, of which Evelyn has been a member for 11 years, and community members. They serve lunch and full course dinners each of the three days of the fair. The menus vary each day and the selection includes about 10 items, but each day has a specialty. On Wednesday there is chicken corn soup for lunch, from 11-1:00 p.m., and roast chicken for supper, from 5-7 p.m. On Thursday you can choose chicken pot pie for lunch and roast beef in the evening. And on Friday, it's beef stew for lunch and baked ham for supper.

Mrs. Groff says, "I don't help to season the food, so I can say this - the meals are really good. I chop onions and wash celery, but my main responsibility is to get help lined up."

Lining up the help includes sending letters to nearly 100 people and asking for a response by card or by phone as to when they would like to help in the restaurant. Mrs. Groff estimates that about 25 people help daily on about four different shifts, beginning at 9 a.m. and ending at 9 p.m. She said she tries to go as soon as she gets her work done in the morning and often doesn't leave until nearly 10 p.m. "It's a rather hectic week for a family."

The community women respond willingly, and Mrs. Groff notes, "We get a few new ones each year. Most really enjoy it. You know it must be fun or in this day and age people wouldn't do it without money. We joke and kid while we work."

For the restaurant workers, chores actually begin on Tuesday before the fair starts when they cook the chicken and make applesauce Mrs. Groff admits with a laugh, "I have to let everything go that week, but I'm hoping my pickles will be about finished. Some years they are not, and then I work early in the morning and late at night. But I'm not someone who just keeps on working - some things don't get done."

This is the 53rd annual fair, and the restaurant is in its 21st year. At first Evelyn recalls, "They served a few judges, a few farmers and cattlemen and the state police who helped with the fair. Now we serve nearly 500 meals each evening and 100 at lunch. It seems to grow gradually each year." Mrs. Groff credited Mrs. Leroy Andrews and Mrs. Isaac Herr with doing a wonderful job for 18 years in

Homestead Notes

She has 44 yr. career in canned goods dept. at New Holland Fair

By SALLY BAIR
Feature Writer

For 44 years Mrs. Parke W. Bowers has been found in the canned goods department of the New Holland Farm Show - for 42 of those years she's been running that division as its chairman. That means she's seen a lot of canned goods over the years - and made a lot of friends.

Martha Bowers, Leola, says, "There's tricks in all trades," and she must know them all in the canning division of the Show. There are 77 categories of canned goods, not including jams and jellies, and each year Mrs. Bowers faithfully records the numbers of entries in a notebook. When she started keeping records in 1950 there were 353 entries by 57 people. In 1977 there were 511 entries from 90 people. "The numbers," Mrs. Bowers says, "depends a good bit on the weather. If it's dry there's less."

Along with the number of entries, Mrs. Bowers also records the kind of weather fairgoers enjoyed. Some years there was "summer weather," sometimes it was "dry," and occasionally it was very rainy.

What's the most popular canned item at the show? It's pickles, without a doubt, Mrs. Bowers declared. "A lot of people can pickles who don't can anything else. Some don't bring anything but pickles." She added, "Fruits are a little harder to handle."

In the earlier annals of fair judging, pickles were not opened to be tasted by the judges, but were judged solely by appearances as are other canned goods. This has been changed, however, and Mrs. Bowers points out, "It's the only way to tell how they taste, but winners are selected according to a judge's taste." She noted further that some pickles which look really nice in the jar don't taste all that great when opened. She said she enjoys tasting some of the pickles: "We're regular pickle faces in my family." But as chairman she said she must remain impartial.

At the New Holland Farm Show most entries in the canned goods division are not from farm people, Mrs. Bowers said "Usually the exhibitors can't wait 'til we're done to see how they've done. People come through after the judging hunting their own jar."

Despite the fact that there are 77 categories, which seemingly would cover every possible canned food, Mrs. Bowers says that each year there is something brought in that must go in a miscellaneous category. One item which no longer appears in the catalogue is canned rabbit. "We used to get a lot of it, but we cut it out," Mrs. Bowers said. "And we cut out picallily - it was never made right."

Mrs. Bowers admits that the Farm Show is hard work, but added, "It helps you get out among people. People have learned to know me, and often come and say, 'well, here we are again.' The job is very short-lived, she points out. "As quick as the last can is judged we can leave. We just make

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

In reading my father's diary, written in the 1920's, I've been reminded of living patterns in bygone days.

Most of his entries were 'one-liners', simply, "worked so and so all day." But, occasionally he added an interesting item such as annual trips to North East, Md., to buy fish on Ascension Day, a trip in the Fall to a farm in the Strasburg area to buy watermelons or a trip to Bowers Beach and a reported catch of 54 bass.

He tells of buying his first radio, of a cow bloating and dying and of butchering a pig weighing 478 pounds. In season, he helped his three neighbors to thresh, dug out briars, and witnessed a relative's will.

However, there was one day in May of 1928 that rated a full five lines in his diary. On that particular day he watered his tobacco plants, worked around the barn and drove the two-horse wagon to the mill. Then about 2:30 a.m. he was awakened by an alarm ringing on the headboard of his bed. Someone had gone into our chicken house! He pulled on his overalls, grabbed the shotgun and hurried quietly out into the garden behind the hen house.

In the ensuing battle, he was fired at five times and returned three shots. They got away. The next day burlap bags were found on a back cinder road near our barn which contained red feathers, white feathers and black feathers. The State Police came and dug bullets out of the buildings.

Times haven't changed that much—they had petty thieves then, too. I'm simply grateful that he didn't get himself killed on that awful night.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By
JOYCE BUPP

I have a confession to make.

I've been unfaithful. For 13 years, I have exclusively devoted my thoughts and time to registered Holstein cows. I've help milk them, calve them, feed them, show them, and chase them. Dozens of wobbly-legged calves have been nurtured to the weaning stage by my own two hands. I've chopped their silage, baled their hay, written checks for their medical bills and nursed them through scours, pneumonia, ringworm and fits of stubbornness.

In other words, I'm hooked on those big beautiful black and whites!

So, then, why was I standing in the middle of a dairy cattle show ring recently, with my hand clenched on the one end of a leather show halter, while at the other end paraded a big Brown Swiss?

Actually, you see, it wasn't my fault. I was a mere victim of circumstances. When your animals are stabled right next to the show arena, and a friend orders you to "get out there and show this cow," what does one do? I mean, he couldn't lead three head by himself, could he?

Pulling my cap way down over my face, I ducked behind the gentle obedient Swiss and hid. It was useless. Momentarily, I hear hoots, hollers and jeers from fellow Holstein enthusiasts. But, when the cow was sent into the reserve grand

Fulton Grange elects officers

QUARRYVILLE - Thomas Galbreath, Master of Fulton Grange 66, presided at the meeting September 12 when the following officers were elected: Edward L. Zug, Master; Harry Baker, overseer; Mrs. William J. Rhoades, lecturer; William Rhoades, steward; Brad Fischer, assistant steward; Miss Sandra Galbreath, lady assistant steward; Gyles H. Brown, Chaplain; Clifford W. Holloway Jr., treasurer; Miss Peggy Galbreath, secretary; Frank champion slot, I straightened my sagging shoulders and hooted right back at the agitators. I also suddenly recalled seeing my husband showing a Guernsey on the previous day. It appeared that treason was running rampant in the family.

Instant replays happen elsewhere besides on your living room TV. Just minutes later, I got my marching orders to lead a Milking Shorthorn heifer into the ring. Again, we finished in the reserve purple rosette place. I had to admit, this was higher than I had stood for quite awhile with a Bupplynn black and white.

But you colored breed guys forgot something.

Where's my prize money????

Scheuchenzuber, gatekeeper; Mrs. Charles Wallace, Ceres; Mrs. William Taylor, Pomona; Mrs. Donald McCallin, Flora; Norman Wood, member of executive committee; Richard Lefever, member of finance committee; Glenn Hough, pianist; Mrs. Norman Wood and Mrs. Freeda Huber, flower committee; C.G. McSparran, purchasing agent; Mrs. Robert B. McSparran, hospitalization secretary; Mrs. Dewitt Bacorn, librarian; Charles Tindall Jr., Scout representative; Thomas Galbreath and David Wissler, trustees; and Mrs. Edward L. Zug, junior grange matron. They will be installed at the October 10 meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Kreider were elected alternate delegates to the Pa. State Grange annual meeting to be held at Danville, Oct. 24-27.

The Grange two-day tour to Washington, D.C. will be leaving Quarryville at 6:45 a.m. and the Grange Hall, Oakryn, at 7 a.m., on Oct. 7.

Trevor McLean, an IFYE student from Australia, showed colored slides and told of his native country. He spoke of the size, population, the dry climate, their methods of farming, crops and animals produced.

Community Night will be observed at the next regular meeting, starting with a covered dish at 7 p.m., followed by a program at 8 p.m. Everyone should bring a meat dish, covered dish, and their own place setting. Rolls, butter, and beverage will be provided. Mrs. Owen Groff, Lecturer, has planned a special program including: a talk by Edward L. Zug - What Has Been And Is Hoped Will Be Accomplished By The Grange In The Future; two skits; special musical numbers and group singing and a square dance and the Virginia reel. The public is cordially invited to attend the supper and program.

Roundup applauded

CHICAGO - The development of Roundup herbicide by Monsanto Company has been cited as one of the most significant new technical product achievements of 1977. Monsanto, along with other IR-100 award winners, was honored here Sept. 15 by Industrial Research magazine during ceremonies at the Museum of Science and Industry.

The competition, now in its 15th year, recognizes innovators and organizations for outstanding scientific and engineering technical developments. The award for Roundup marks the seventh time that Monsanto has been named a winner and the first time in the history of IR-100 awards competition that a herbicide development has received this recognition.

running the restaurant. When they chose to retire two years ago, Mrs. J. Wilbur Houser and Mrs. Leroy Beiler took over the cooking chores.

"Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Beiler did an excellent job, and they cooperated and helped and advised the new committee. We had a lot to learn."

Mrs. Groff said that a lot of local people come, but she also knows people who attend the fair from Manheim and Elizabethtown. "Many come in the afternoon, look around and then eat. There are people who come pretty much the same time each year."

She is usually so occupied in the kitchen that she doesn't get around to see all the exhibits, but Evelyn says, "In the last several years the fair is really growing. Vegetables, houseplants, and flowers have really increased. There are many more people with gardens." She added that sewing entries have increased, and especially arts and crafts entries. "A lot of people have hobbies," she said.

Although she doesn't enter something every year, Mrs. Groff said she enjoys exhibiting. In the past she has entered violets, ferns, and tuberous begonias.

"I did pretty well. Some got blues, some got reds and some got no ribbon at all," she said. She has also entered fresh vegetables upon occasion and the family always exhibits fresh milk.

When asked about Lampeter's policy of not having a Saturday Fair, Mrs. Groff said, "I think the Fair was started by Christian and church people and they probably wanted to have the clean-up done on Saturday."

She was also added it probably had to do with the fact that the original fair was organized through the West Lampeter Vocational School, and the school building was used and students were given credit for school by attending the fair.

Evelyn noted that her hobbies include her plants and her garden. "I like to can and freeze - it's kind of a necessity. I also enjoy cooking and making egg cheese." This dairy farmer's wife said, "We use a lot of milk and I churn butter. I bring the milk in and let the cream rise, then make the butter and use the buttermilk in the egg cheese." She said the frequency of making butter varies, but she sometimes makes it every three days and sometimes as infrequently as every 10 days.

The Groffs have about 50 registered Holsteins and farm nearly 160 acres. Mrs. Groff assists in that operation by keeping farm records, but with three sons at home she doesn't help with the actual milking.

Bees look for alternate food

DOVER, Del. - Most honeybees have the foresight to store enough honey in their hives to keep the colony going through the winter...especially those living in areas without a fall nectar supply.

But those colonies running low on their own supply will be on the lookout for an alternate source of sugar. According to University of Delaware extension apiculturists one of their primary sources of fall and winter sugar is stored honey from other bee colonies.

When the threat of one colony robbing another is the greatest, there are some precautions beekeepers can take. First of all, as one prepares the hives for winter, he should limit the time each one is open.

In addition, a "robber cloth" should be used - any kind of cloth big enough to cover the top of a super. The cloth should be wet with plain water and a few drops of weak carbolic acid. The odor acts as a repellent to other bees without bothering those in the colony. Also suggested is limiting access to the entrance of hives by placing a wooden cleat over most of the opening. Even a weak colony can protect an inch-wide entrance.

Honeybees may also try to obtain sugar from fruit. Though they cannot break the skin of most fruits, they look for the ones with holes or cracks caused by birds or other insects.

Experts recommend that beekeepers consider moving their colonies away from orchards and vineyards so their bees do not bother fruit pickers or graders.

Mrs. Groff is a member of the Strasburg Mennonite Church and is involved with her family in church activities. The family is also active in the Gideons.

This year's Fair begins on Wednesday, September 28 and will conclude on Friday, September 30. So when Tuesday comes Mrs. Groff will take her place with the other dedicated workers who help to make the fair a successful community effort.

Mummert top FFA'er at York Fair

By JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Reporter

DOVER - Mark Mummert, a senior at Dover Area High School, has been selected York County's 1977 Outstanding Future Farmer of America.

The 16-year-old farm youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mummert, 3481 Admire Road. He, is president of the York County FFA and holds the office of Dover chapter vice-president as well.

Mummert will receive an all expenses paid trip the National Convention and American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, Mo., during the week of November 6. The York Fair sponsors the annual award.

Standing in the winner's circle is not a new event to the Dover young farmer. Last year he also won a trip to the Kansas City convention and livestock show through the salesmanship competition during the FFA's Summer convention at State College.

As a ninth grader in his first year of FFA work in 1975, Mummert earned the Star Greenhand award in the Dover chapter. The following year he was chosen the Star Chapter farmer and was the recipient of the Dekalb agriculture award.

A variety of commodities are represented in Mummert's FFA projects. He owns three registered Holstein senior yearling heifers and has raised 100 capons annually for the past three years. His crop projects include field and sweet corn and cantaloupes raised in conjunction with his family on the 102 acre farm. Mummert helps with the care of boarding dairy heifers and raising 72 veal calves twice a year. Summers he works full time on the Charles Rauhauser dairy farm.

In addition to project work, Mummert participates in numerous other county FFA activities, including land judging, dairy judging, parliamentary procedure, interviewing and salesmanship. He was a delegate to the state convention, representing York County. Richard Coons is his advisor in the Dover FFA chapter.

Mummert is an Honor Society student in high school and is currently working in an innovative college-level study program. As a part-time provisional student, he is carrying several credits at the York Campus of Penn State University, and must maintain a "C" grade level there to remain in the program.

"I'm enjoying college much more than high school," Mummert admits. "It's a lot more of a challenge." His beginning courses are English and the Arts and Humanities.

Mummert has his sights set on a career as an agriculture engineer, specifically in the area of designing farm equipment and housing facilities.

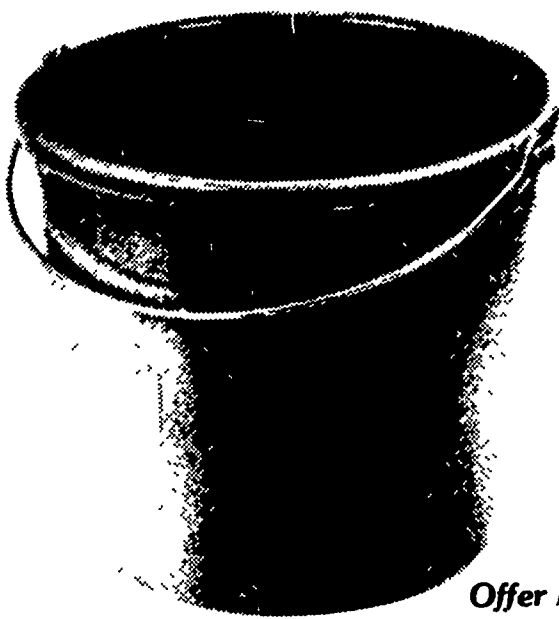

An active athlete, he has been a member of the Dover High School soccer and volleyball teams and has hiked over most of the Appalachian trail. Sunday mornings find him teaching a class of third and fourth graders at Calvary Lutheran Sunday School in Dover. He has belonged for several years to the Davidsburg Community 4-H club.

In order to qualify for the York Fair sponsored award, candidates were to be active

Mrs. Bowers seems to have a genuine interest in the community, and sticks to her interests over long periods. She was president of the Bareville Fire Company Auxiliary for 20 years and when she retired she was presented with a life membership, a watch, a painted platter with a picture of the fire company with the engine in front.

She is still active in the Friendly Circle of Rural Women, a group of rural friends who do charitable works and who take enjoyable trips for themselves. She said they meet once a month and feels she was initially asked to join because "I was a driver." She noted that in earlier days not many women drove or had a car to get around.

Mrs. Bowers also served as president of the Conestoga Valley Auxiliary to the Lancaster General Hospital for 16 years, and has been a member for 28. When asked about her long years of service in positions of responsibility, she said, "Someone has to make the sparks fly!"

She is also a member of the Salem Evangelical Church in Voganville.

A widow, Mrs. Bowers stays busy with a small garden of tomatoes, onions, red beets and dorn, and enjoys a wide variety of flowers. Her African violets would be the envy of any plant enthusiast, and she

E-town community fair to start Tuesday

ELIZABETHTOWN - The Elizabethtown Marketplace Fair, which features judging of a host of farm and garden products as well as arts and crafts, will begin on Tuesday, September 27. This display, which is a segment of the Elizabethtown Community Fair, leads off activities which will continue until October 1.

Some of the week-long activities include an FFA barnyard display as well as carnival rides and food and games stands run by numerous civic groups.

Thursday evening, September 29, is slated to host Zachariah, a popular rock-gospel group in the East.

Saturday boasts a multi-million dollar demonstration of fire fighting equipment sponsored by area fire companies.

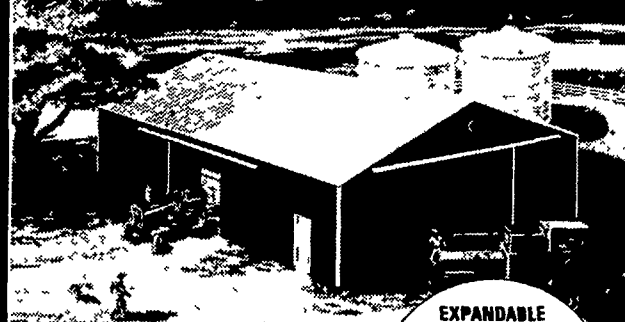

To cap off the week, a fireworks display will be shot off Saturday evening.

The fair is located across from the lake at the Elizabethtown College off College Avenue.

enjoys propagating them herself. She also plays the piano for her own enjoyment.

At 75, Mrs. Bowers' community spirit is as strong as ever. When the New Holland Farm Show begins taking entries in the canned goods division next Tuesday Mrs. Bowers will be on the job with enthusiasm. The Farm Show is open to the public from Wednesday through Saturday.

Riders compete in District VI 4-H Horse show

Ricky Buckwalter, Lancaster County, and his horse Janie's Folly, took top honors in the Jr. Grooming and Showmanship contest.

By KENDACE BORRY
LANCASTER -- The District VI 4-H Horse Show was held September 17 at the Lancaster Riding Club with riders from the eight counties of Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Perry, and York participating. The English judge was Mrs. Judy Newvine, Jersey Shore, Pa.; Western judge was Mrs. Kathy Whitehill, Pleasant Gap, Pa.; and trail judge was Robert Mowrey, University Park, Pa.

Over 200 4-H'ers competed in the 29 classes shown throughout the day. Prizes were awarded to the top six placings of each class, with the awards being spread throughout the different counties, and no one county dominating the show. Top placing winners in each class will go on to compete in the State 4-H Horse Show, usually the top two or three riders, depending on the state quota for that class.

In the grooming and showmanship classes, Ricky

Buckwalter, Lancaster County 4-H'er from Denver, Pa. top honors in the junior division. The 13 year old youth is a member of the Broken Bit 4-H club. He also placed second in the Stock Seat Equitation Jr. Division and the Western Pleasure Horses Class.

In the Senior Division, first prize was awarded to Lori Jones, a member of the Cumberland County 4-H Horse and Pony Club. The nineteen year old 4-H'er showed her horse, Positively exhibitors in the fair competitions.

Pete to also win the Sr. Stock Seat Equitation, and place fourth in the Western Pleasure Horses Class.

Mummert showed his dairy helpers and exhibited in the tomatoes, beans and onion classes. His entry in the FFA oats category won a second place; and a three-square-foot veal production display also captured a red ribbon in the school exhibits.

Selection of this year's winner was made from a field of six FFA members representing several county chapters. The award is judged on the fair participation, leadership, scholarship, project program, FFA activities and a personal interview.

Judging for the competition was done by Dr. Robert Deck of the Lincoln Intermediate Unit, Ed Heindel of the York Office of Production Credit Association, and Leo Rutter who represented the York Fair management.

Lebanon COUNTY DHIA MONTHLY REPORT

AUGUST 1977

A cow in David Brandt's herd which is simply known as "60," made the top of the list in butterfat production, and just missed it for milk production. A 4-year old Holstein, "60" recently completed a record of 25,196 pounds of milk and 940 of fat. She had a 3.7 per cent butterfat test. "Vada," owned by Vincent Wagner, captured the milk production crown for the month with her record of 25,564 pounds. She had a 3.3 test and produced 845 pounds of butterfat. She recorded the lactation at age 6 years and 10 months.

Here's a test for a good fitting garment. Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at Penn State, says that the shoulder seams and side seams are shaped to follow body contours and are good clues to proper fit. The shoulder seam should follow the highest line of the shoulder. Side seams should appear to fall straight down the sides of a garment. If side seams of the skirt swing to the back or front, the body of the dress doesn't fit properly.

Want to Build Better Beef? Try Wayne Concentrate Beef Feeds

Popular Wayne Pro-Sweet Balancers are unique because their moderate levels of urea allow them to be used on both high roughage and high concentrate rations.

Try Wayne Beef Concentrates to build better beef.

Wayne 32% Pro-Sweet Balancer

For use in growing and finishing rations where hay or silage are fed with grain. Low NPN level makes this a good general purpose feedlot supplement.

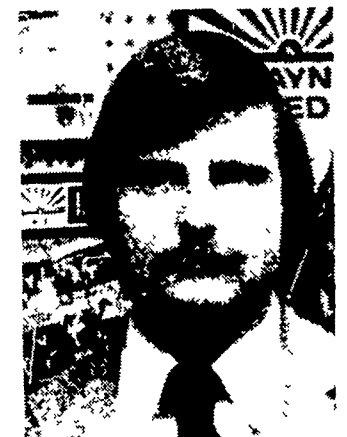

Wayne 42% Pro-Sweet Balancer

A high protein supplement ideal for feeding with corn silage or other low protein roughage. Its lower urea level increases palatability and performance in growing and finishing rations.

Thinking of Leasing or Renting your Tractor Power?

Here's the long and the short of it!

The Long—That's the Case Lower Payment Lease Plan. A lease program of up to 60 months for qualified customers. Many find leasing more attractive than ownership depending on their tax bracket and expansion plans. Taking the lease payment off the top of your operating expense often saves more than the usual interest, tax and depreciation deductions.

Plus—When you lease you don't tie up capital in equipment. Payment schedules can be tailored to your cash flow. We will purchase your existing equipment and lease you new replacements which can be exchanged if your power needs change.

The Short—Renting your tractor power by the week or month is an ideal way to boost your production during busy seasons.

Match your work schedule with two or four wheel drive tractors, and when you're done just bring the tractor back. No long term commitment in money or machine. Warning! You could fall in love with your Case Rental Tractor. Contact your participating Case dealer for availability of certain units.

For additional information on Case Finance Plans, write J I Case Company, Dept. AG/CCC, 700 State Street, Racine, WI 53404.

Plan ahead, long term and short, with the farm power you need from Case.

Notice that in almost every nutrient specification, Stretch is superior to roughages or other roughage substitutes.

FEEDING

Stretch can be used in many ways. A thumb rule is that 1 lb. Stretch replaces 1½ lbs. hay, 2½ lbs. hay crop silage, 3 lbs. corn silage.

Stretch can replace oats in a grist ration. Being a pellet, it aids in flowability in bulk handling facilities. Stretch contains molasses, thereby increasing the molasses content of the total grist without adding to "stickiness".

BEACON STRETCH IS A PELLET - Available in bag or bulk.

Lampeter has promoted the best for 50 years

LAMPETER -- The Lampeter Fair is a tradition that has been promoting competition for best agricultural and homemaker's products among the citizens of this agricultural community for more than a half century.

Viewing these exhibits is educational and inspires creativity and competition in the minds of the observers. While the community is no longer strictly agricultural, the exhibits of hand-made crafts, homemaking skills, premiums home-grown fruits and vegetables or animals from all the community are welcomed.

The program of the Fair is family oriented and is purposely void of a carnival atmosphere. The Lampeter Fair is a non-profit community activity under the leadership of 45 volunteer directors who are elected for a three year term. The Fair could not operate without the services of hundreds of other volunteers who work on committees, assuming responsibilities for service in planning, preparation, execution, and cleanup for the Fair.

This year's West Lampeter Community Fair will be held September 28, 29, and 30, 1977 at the Community Grounds, Lampeter. Among the highlights of the event -- other than the numerous competitive programs -- are the sales. The first of them will take place Friday, Sept. 30, at 8 p.m. when the FFA market hog and baby beef sale gets underway. The following day, the fair's vegetables, fruits, pastries, and some other goods will go up for auction.

Located in the heart of Lancaster County, the West Lampeter Fair offers good accessibility from all directions. The Fairgrounds are located near this small community, just a few miles southeast of Lancaster.

Refreshments and foods will be served daily at any of several food stands, as well as the Community Fair Restaurant.

ASCS agreements available

WASHINGTON, D.C. - ASCS offices are reminding feed grain producers that purchase agreements are available for 1976 corn and other feed grains still owned by the producer. A purchase agreement signed prior to April 30, 1978, for corn will permit Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to buy the grain at the established county loan rate for 1976. Farmers may sell their grain under purchase agreement on the open market at any time prior to delivery to CCC. Final settlement will be made on the quantity and grade delivered.

Purchase agreements may play a role in the formation of a Feed Grain Reserve Program announced on August 29 by Deputy Secretary John C. White. Producers may convert the purchase agreement to a loan during the loan maturity month (April 1978 for corn). In the reserve program, feed grain will continue to be stored on the farm and the producer will receive payments to cover the first year's storage costs. The storage reserve program commits the producer to store the grain for up to three years with storage payments made annually.

Farmers who wish more information on purchase agreements or the Feed Grain Reserve Program should contact their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office.

The Advantages of Speedy Corn Crib

- 1. Easy to Erect
Speedy's Corn Crib goes up fast and easy because of roof rafters and Bar-Lok side panels. The steeply pitched roof pushes the corn to the edges--NO WASTED SPACE!
- 2. Wide Selection
There is a Speedy Crib for every farm need, priced right for every budget.
• Choice of 900, 1200 or 1700 Bushel Sizes.
• 5 or 2 Gauge Wire Mesh Side Panels.
- 3. Durable
The Speedy 5 Gauge Crib won't bulge or sag--stands straight and tall year after year. For extra strength and durability get the Speedy 2 Gauge Crib--outlasts other cribs--even with full capacity loads. Galvanized wire, not aluminum paint.
- 4. Save Money and Energy
Corn stored in a Speedy Crib is dried by Mother Nature without the use of costly energy. This saves money and also helps conserve our scarce energy resources.

Step 1 -- Bar-Lok Construction saves you time -- gives you a strong, sturdy crib. Crib wire panels are interlaced to form an eye. A 13"x3/8" rod is then inserted through the eye and pushed down to the foundation. Easy, simple, fast construction.

Step 2 -- Rafters are bolted to assembled rafter ring. Now you're ready to put the roof panels on. Rafters assure you of proper roof panel placement the first time. No wooden framework to build.

Rural Youth chosen at Solanco

QUARRYVILLE - Two youths from southern Lancaster County, David Lefever, Kirkwood R1, and Martha Hershey, Quarryville R2, racked up the most points for exhibits at the Solanco Fair last week, and for this achievement were named the fair's rural youth.

David Lefever, 18, the son of R. Dean Lefever, is a senior this year at Solanco High School. A member of the Future Farmers of America, he is presently on the agriculture products work program of that school, working for the Carlton Groff Orchard, Kirkwood R1. The majority of Lefever's 532 points were accumulated through fruits and vegetable entries.

As the award for his excellence, Lefever chose a trip to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City this Fall.

Martha Hershey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hershey, Quarryville R2, earned 922 points to put her on top at the Solanco Fair. Miss Hershey, a senior at Solanco, is not new to rural youth competition, placing third for the past two years. This year her entries centered mainly around canned goods and vegetables. Her skill in this home ec division is something she says she learned from her mother. As her gift, she chose a cedar chest.

Other top placing youth in the contest were: boys -

Virginville Grange is Grange of the Year

HARRISBURG - First place in the 1976-77 "Grange of the Year" contest has been won by Virginville Grange of Berks County, according to J. Luther Snyder, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

The selections were made by a panel of three judges and were based on the individual Grange's activities in 10 different categories, including legislative work and community influence and involvement.

judging were membership and lecturer's programs, meeting attendance, activities for women, youth and young married couples, and sponsorship of a Junior Grange for youngsters five to 14 years old.

The awards - $100 U.S. Savings Bond for first place, $50 Bond for second, and $25 Bond for third - will be presented at the Pennsylvania State Grange's annual convention in Danville October 24-27.

The contest was open to all subordinate Granges of Pennsylvania and was sponsored by the Farmers

Horses banned

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Horses from England, Ireland and France are temporarily banned from import because of a recently reported breeding disease of horses known as equine metritis, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

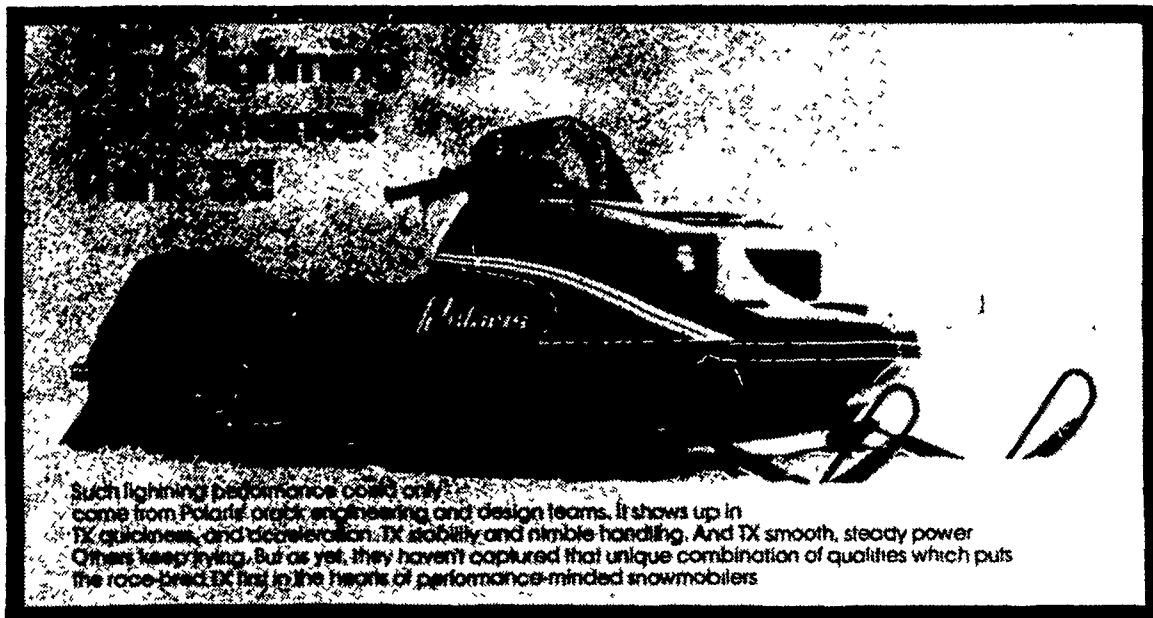

According to officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), the ban will remain in effect until they can determine the potential disease risk involved in importing horses from the affected countries. The ban also applies to horses which have been in England, Ireland or France within 60 days prior to export to the United States.

SNOWMOBILING WITH

More powerful and heavier, these tractors -- "The New Iron Horses," are the latest in farm power from John Deere.

John Deere introduces 'Iron Horses'

MOLINE, Ill. - John Deere recently introduced a new line of tractors.

Called "The New Iron Horses," the line is made up of five models ranging from 90 to 180 horsepower, reportedly featuring more horses and more iron.

Specifically, the five tractors are: the 90-hp 4040, 110-hp 4240, 130-hp 4440, 155-hp 4640, and 180-hp 4840.

The "more horses" are apparent in the PTO horsepower figures. But not to be forgotten are increased in 3-point hitch lift capacities, the stronger pull at the drawbar, and the reserve power from the hydraulic system. These tractors deliver more power at every point and have more strength to back it up.

The iron story of the tractors is even more impressive, according to John Deere. All of these tractors weigh more and almost all of them have a longer wheelbase. That makes them more stable and gives the operator a good idea of how the chassis is balanced to all the increased power levels. The 'more iron' concept is carried through the insides of the tractors, too, beginning with bigger-displacement engines and ending with heavier drawbars. And most everything between them is bigger, heavier, or stronger.

Another feature is the new HydraCushioned seat suspension system.

John Deere is very confident of the long-term success of the new line. "Their new extended engine and power train warranty puts their money where their mouth is," he said.

Livestock dealer cited

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Thomas Thiede, Forest City, Pa., has been charged with violating bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced recently.

Thiede is registered as a dealer, and purchases livestock in northeastern Pennsylvania and southern New York State.

USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration charged in an administrative complaint that Thiede continued his dealer business without providing a bond since his surety bond was terminated, despite official notice that this is a violation of the Packers and Stockyards (P & S) Act. Thiede has now filed the required bond.

State dairy princess to be chosen Wednesday

HARRISBURG - The 21st annual Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation will be held next Wednesday, September 28 in Harrisburg, it was announced recently by Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture Kent D. Shelhamer.

The Dairy Princess Coronation is part of the All-American Dairy Show Recognition Banquet which is slated to begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

This year's reigning dairy princess, Peggy Staub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Staub of Newville R1, Cumberland County, will crown her successor at the event. Miss Staub was an honorary employee of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture during the Summer months, working in the Bureau of Markets in milk promotional activities. She traveled thousands of miles in the activities as Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, promoting milk and milk products to Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, promoting milk and milk products to Pennsylvania consumers at malls, supermarkets, with civic organizations and on radio and television programs.

This year, 39 county and local dairy princesses are competing for the honor. These young ladies, who represent 45 counties of the state, have already been actively involved in promotional activities for milk on the local level.

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show will run September 26-30 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. The show features entries of six dairy cattle breeds in competition for premiums of more than $62,000.

The All-American, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission, has since its inception in 1964 attracted exhibitors of the best in dairy cattle from dairy breeders and farmers around the world.

bobcat

"It's some kind of animal!"

Built to fill a need for the new breed of farmer

The Bobcat skid steer loader was developed not too many years ago to clean out barns and other farm buildings where the only other way was tedious hand labor.

But today's new breed of farm now relies on the Bobcat for a lot more than cleaning and loading. With a variety of attachment options and the speed and ease of the Bob Tach system, he can excavate, backfill, trench, drill post holes, plow and remove snow, haul materials to the job site, rake, scarify. Four-wheel drive and compact size let you maneuver the Bobcat in tight work areas indoors and out to get heavy work done fast and economically.

See the Bobcat display at the Lampeter Fair - September 28-30

Want a demonstration at your place? Just give us a call or drop in.

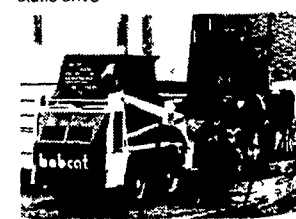

BABY OF THE BOBCAT BREED - the 300 Series. Only 35 inches wide and low. It's easy to maneuver through doorways and under low overhangs.

BOB TACH lets you change attachments without leaving the machine. Auger, backhoe, pallet fork, utility forks, grapple, rake.

RENT OR BUY the Bobcat or attachments. Real operator comfort too: wide cabs, adjustable seats, armrests, clutch or hydro static drive.

BOBCAT VERSATILITY and value to the farmer have made it the world's best selling skid steer loader.

AUGUST 1977

A record of over 1100 pounds of butterfat, and another with more than 28,000 pounds of milk highlight this month's report for completed lactations. Ray Bicksler recently had his "Barbie" finish a 305-day lactation with 1141 pounds of butterfat. She milked 27,076 pounds. The record put "Barbie" well out in front on the butterfat report, but she was beat by a half a ton in milk production. F.M. Brown's Sons have Number 15 to thank for bringing the milk production honor to their herd. Their 7-year old Holstein pumped out 28,141 pounds of milk and 946 of butterfat.

Home on

The Range

There is nothing like the smell of homemade bread baking in the oven to fill a kitchen with a warm, friendly "family" atmosphere. And, this week, "Home on the Range" gives you 14 choices of breads to do this with. There is everything from whole wheat bread to pumpernickel bread to dinner rolls, and Mrs. Doris Huddle, who sent in the hot cross bun recipe, wrote saying that her recipe is not strictly for Easter, but is a pleasant change from regular bread.

When you feel like baking, why not give the hot cross buns and all the others a try.

Correction

We have one correction to make on a recipe printed in the September 3rd issue. "Apple Krumb Kuchen" in that issue omitted $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of water.

HOT CROSS BUNS

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening
2 packages active dry yeast
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees F.)
3 eggs
4 cups all-purpose flour
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup chopped dates
1 egg white
1 teaspoon cold water

Scald milk, add sugar, salt, and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast on warm water; stir in to dissolve. Add eggs, yeast, and one cup flour to milk mixture; beat with electric mixer at medium speed about two minutes. Stir in dates and enough remaining flour to make a soft dough that is easy to handle.

Place in lightly greased bowl; turn dough over to grease top. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ hours. Then, turn out into lightly floured board. Roll to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thickness. Cut in rounds with $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch biscuit cutter. Place about 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ inches apart on greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise about one hour. With a sharp knife, cut a cross on the top of each bun. Brush tops with unbeaten egg white mixed with cold water. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on wire racks about five minutes. Then, with tip of teaspoon, fill in crosses with white frosting. Makes about 18 buns.

White Frosting:

1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons hot water
Combine one cup sifted confectioner's sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla, and two tablespoons hot water. Mix until smooth.

Mrs. Doris Huddle
Boyertown, Pa.

PARKER HOUSE ROLLS

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup milk
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine, cut up small degrees) water

2 packages active dry yeast
4 to 5 cups flour
2 to 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted.

In a one quart saucepan, heat the milk, sugar, salt, and cut-up butter until lukewarm. In a large mixing bowl sprinkle the yeast over the water; stir to dissolve; add lukewarm milk mixture and three cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic - about five minutes. Place in buttered bowl and turn to butter top. Cover and let rise in a draft-free warm place (about 80 degrees F.) until doubled - about one hour. Punch down dough, turn out onto a prepared pastry cloth. Divide in half. Roll out each half to $\frac{1}{4}$ inch thickness. Cut into rounds with a $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch cookie cutter. With the dull edge of a table knife, crease each round slightly off center; brush with melted butter.

Fold larger side over smaller so that the edges just meet. Place rolls touching one another in rows in a buttered 15 by 10 inch jelly roll pan. Cover and let doubled - about 50 minutes. Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven until browned - about 12 or 15 minutes. Makes 2- $\frac{1}{2}$ dozen. Note: Two rounds laid on top of each other can be used as hamburger rolls.

'Applejack Style Butterflies' win title for York pork king

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter
YORK, PA.--"Applejack Style Butterflies" was the mouth-watering pork dish that Quay Brown cooked up as his entry in the annual York County Pork Cookout King competition. The original recipe creation earned the Frederick, MD, man winning rosette and the title of "King."

Brown captured the honor over two other contestants, Joe Sheffer, who created a dish called "Red Wine Stuffed Pork Chops," and Rodney Tyson of Felton with a grilled ham steak.

"The recipe has to be an original one, so I added to, deleted from and experimented with a lot of pork recipes," Brown explained.

The butterflies begin with select pork loin chops, two inches thick. Brown suggests having the butcher remove the bone and butterfly the meat, resulting in inch-thick chops for the grilling procedure. Key to the Maryland chef's success was his tasty basting sauce, a combination of : one cup applebutter, two tablespoons of apple jack, one tablespoon of lemon juice, and one fourth cup of maple syrup.

Cooking of the chops was done on a gas grill, with the meat being turned and basted frequently during the 30 minute grilling time. When charcoal is used, Brown suggests a slightly longer cooking period.

Judging was based on points earned in four categories. The preparation of the meat was considered, rated on taste, tenderness and eye-pleasing appearance. Originality in selection of the pork cut used was also considered. Incorporating Pennsylvania-produced commodities into the finished dish won points, as well as the final "showmanship" involved in presenting the creation to the judges.

Brown decorated his table with a colorful dried flower arrangement, and accompanied his pork entree with side dishes of baked potatoes, mushrooms, and homemade bread.

This was Brown's second triumph in the county pork cooking competition. He captured the York County title two years ago, and went on to finish second at the state competition. He'll have another chance at the state crown when the Pennsylvania cockoff is held in October.

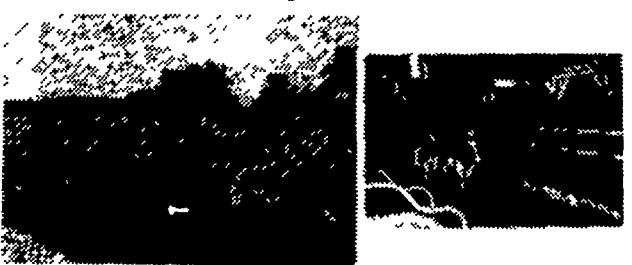

Judges for the contest were Glenn Bailey, president of the York Interstate Fair, Bill Stallsmith of York, a past cookout king winner, and Roxanne Price, York Extension Service home economist.

Quay Brown of Frederick, Md., was selected the York County Pork Cookout King during competition at the York Fair.

Shue exhibits York FFA market hog champion

Hatfield Packing Company purchased the grand champion FFA market hog during a sale held at the York Fair. Bob Sechrist, left, of Sechrist Sales, represented the buyer who paid 70 cents per pound for the purebred Chester White. The proud seller was David Shue, Brodbeck's.

Reserve champion FFA market hog was bought by Ralph Thomas, right, of Thomas Meat Market, Shrewsbury. Owner Brian Utz, Hanover, received 57 cents per pound for the purebred Yorkshire.

YORK, Pa. - Activities of the Future Farmers of America participating in the York Fair hog exhibits climaxed with a special sale of market animals on September 16.

The grand champion market hog was shown by 16-year-old David Shue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Veryl Shue, Brodbeck's R1. It sold first during the auction, and was purchased by Hatfield Packing company, Hatfield, for 70 cents per pound. The purebred Chester White barrow weighed in at 240 pounds and was one of three that Shue sold during the auction. Shue raised four hogs during his FFA project work at Southwestern High School.

Going second on the sales block was a purebred Yorkshire barrow which had won reserve champion honors for Brian Utz, Hanover R2. Ralph Thomas, Thomas Meat Market, of Shrewsbury bought the 258 pound animal for 57 cents per pound. Utz, age 15, is a member of the Southwestern FFA and exhibited two hogs with each placing first in its class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Utz.

The sale averaged 43.9 cents on all animals, including the champion and reserve purchase prices. On all animals, excluding the two top placings, average of the sale came to 42.7 cents.

and their FFA chapters includes:

Class 1 - 1. Don Myers, Gifford-Pinchot; 2. Kevin Knudson, Gifford-Pinchot; 3. Kevin Kundson, Gifford-Pinchot; 4. Fred Roycroft, Kennard Dale; 5. Jeff Wilson; Kennard Dale.

Energy-Efficient Homes Offer More

PP&L realizes that purchasing a new home is probably the biggest investment you'll ever make. We also recognize that the energy needed to run your home is too costly and valuable to waste. That's why, in cooperation with area builders, we're sponsoring the Energy Efficient Home program.

To earn an Energy Efficient Home Award your builder must construct a home that will meet or exceed PP&L's standards for:

|--|---|---|
| ☒ Insulation and sheathing | ☒ Ventilation | ☒ Air duct system |
| ☒ Windows and doors | ☒ Fireplace (if used) | ☒ Water heating |
| | ☒ Heating and cooling | |

When your home is completed, PP&L will inspect it to see that it qualifies for the Energy Efficient Home Award. An Award Certificate is then completed by the builder and presented to you.

This symbol is your introduction to a new concept in home building. It's your assurance that your new home is designed and constructed to save energy. And, with today's high energy costs, that means big dollar savings. Makes sense doesn't it? Savings for today and tomorrow... for the life of your home!

In the event your builder is not familiar with the building requirements of an Energy Efficient home, call PP&L.

Ask for the residential consultant who can supply you with materials and equipment specifications and builder information.

Allow to rise until higher than pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to cool 10 minutes then butter tops. Remove from pan to finish cooling. Will freeze well.

The magnificent Budweiser Clydesdales bring crowds of people lining the street wherever they go.

Budweiser Clydesdales thrill 'em wherever they go

By JOANNE SPAHR
HARRISBURG--Anyone who makes a yearly tradition out of watching the Rose Bowl or Orange Bowl parades, or who just admires draft horses in general, knows the world-famous Budweiser Clydesdales. Their eight-horse hitch with its shining red brewery wagon, green clad attendants, and mascot Dalmatian dog "Bud" draw families close around the television set at home and bring them running in person. They're an all American tradition that rings of a nostalgic atmosphere past.

In three weeks their presence will ring out loud and clear at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show slated to be held at the Farm Show complex on October 15 through 22.

Although an average of 2300 pounds a piece and 17 to 19 hands high (an average six feet tall at the shoulders, for all non-horse enthusiasts), the gracious animals pull the 3-1/2 ton red Budweiser wagon through a series of intricate maneuvers, then thunder past crowds in a mighty show of power and graceful magnificence.

Although the size and natural beauty of the animals, alone, make them outstanding, the constant care given them and their

OUR CONTENDER NOW SOON YOUR WINNER?

We believe we have the most promising new bull of our time in WILBAR GILLBROOK CONTENDER. He's out of one of the nation's greatest cow families and is sired by the incomparable BOOTMAKER

CONTENDER has everything going for him — style, production background, disposition, potentially great daughters, and excellent settling rates

We urge you to give him a try. Frozen semen is now available nationwide by direct purchase from the owners, or through Atlantic Breeding Cooperative. Our Syndicate is made up of dairymen who joined forces to extend CONTENDER'S influence to your herd. The price is $4 per ampule up to 100, and $3 per ampule in quantities of 100 or more.

CONTENDER'S pedigree is packed with high producing cows of exceptional type. Every female more than seven years old has produced in excess of 100,000 pounds of milk. Three maternal sisters pictured right average 91 points classification and have 12 completed lactations with an actual average of 22,240 pounds of milk, 840 pounds of fat.

WILBAR PEACHUM CONTENT pictured at the top is the only EX-95, 30,000-pound cow ever consigned to a national sale. She sold for $29,000 in the Spirit of '76 sale at Lancaster, PA last year.

CONFECTIONERY was the ninth highest fat producer among the world's Astronaut daughters (23,000 of them!). ASSENT is one of the highest producing daughters of Black Eagle.

THESE SISTERS are typical of the family — tremendous producers, proven brood cows and great individuals big enough and good enough to show anywhere. All show great type, high production and endurance enough to last a long time in the milking string. It's the best cow family we've ever worked with.

CONTENDER'S sire is the immortal Paclamar Bootmaker EX-94 GM (+1209 milk, +32 fat, TPI.260) — a bull with about as high a percentage of plus proven sons of any bull known. And BOOTMAKER has worked well in this cow family.

A fine individual himself, CONTENDER currently rates 87 at two years of age, has developed nicely and is a top candidate for excellent classification. His semen freezes well and is being used on fine farms in Pennsylvania and California. His calves are small at birth but grow rapidly (he has 14 daughters at Gillbrook Farms, Warrior's Mark, PA, where he was raised).

BILL WEEKS says — Expect great things of this bull. He will sire them strong, smooth and stylish. TRY HIM — we're confident you'll be glad you did!

Insects may damage stored grain

NEWARK, Del. - It's very important that growers who store their own grain inspect it frequently to determine its condition and to monitor potential insect damage. Early detection of problems can prevent heavy losses, points out University of Delaware extension entomologists.

Experts recommend inspection at 30-day intervals, especially during the summer and autumn months, to determine if treatment is needed. Such checks consist of taking the grain temperature and looking for the insects themselves.

To take grain temperature, one should fasten a thermometer to a stick. Then, in the center of the bin, the thermometer is sunk two feet below the grain surface. If insects are active, the temperature will be above 65 degrees F. and may range as high as 100 degrees F.

To inspect for insects, a farmer can insert a grain probe in the center of the bin two feet below the grain surface. He then sifts the grain samples through a 10 to 12 mesh per inch screen to separate out insects.

In Delaware, wheat, oats, rye, barley, and corn are grains most commonly attacked. Soybeans are rarely infested, say entomologists. Usually, corn harvested after October need not be treated, unless it's carried over the following season. Wheat, rye, barley, and oats usually need treatment if held over one month after harvest.

In stored soybeans, only Vapona strips are recommended as a preventive measure against Indian meal moth. In stored wheat, oats and corn, a much wider range of insecticides is needed. For specific recommendations on control of stored grain pests, consult the Delaware Cooperative

THE LEVERAGE OF BALANCED AGRICULTURE

Senior winners in the York Fair calf dressing were Carol Mundis and Tom Welsh, who garbed their animal for a night out on the town.

Top Solanco beef goes for $1.49

QUARRYVILLE - Bryon Groff, Peach Bottom R1, the 16-year-old Solanco FFA member who Angus-Simmental cross won the grand championship title in the FFA steer show at the Solanco Fair, walked away from that Fair, Friday, $1616.65 richer when Ferguson and Hassler, a local supermarket, paid $1.49 per pound for his 1085 pound animal. Ferguson and Hassler, who have purchased the grand champion FFA steer at the Solanco Fair "for more years than anyone can count" topped their last year's price of $1.20 by 29 cents.

The reserve champion animal of the FFA show went for .87 per pound to James Kreider, assistant fair manager, hay dealer, and farmer, Quarryville, for a total of $930.90. Sam Long, Peach Bottom, R1, was the FFA member who showed that 1070 pound animal.

On the whole, the average for the beef sale was .60 per pound with the champions and 55.35 without the top two animals. The total money made on the 27 animals and one resale was $17,926.70 or an average of 640.24 per steer.

Other buyers in the sale were the Farmers National Bank of Quarryville, Mussers of the Buck, Rhoads Restaurant, Quarryville; Kreiders Milk Transportation; Emory Wagner, Quarryville; Dr. William Fredd, Quarryville; Glenn Fite, Quarryville; Muri Aument, Quarryville; Solanco Realty; Ben Wenger, Bill Eddie; C.E. Wiley and Sons, Inc., farm equipment; Vintage Sales Stables; Swayne's Disposal Service; Robert Greg; and Ira Welk.

Auctioneer was Lloyd Kreider, New Providence.

Bryon Groff, center, the owner of the champion FFA beef at the Solanco Fair grossed $1616.90 for his champion animal. Truman Ferguson, right, was the top bidder, paying $1.49 per pound last Friday for the 1085 pound Simmental/Angus cross.

Calf costume party held

YORK, PA.—It was a glamorous costume party for calves when the York Fair sponsored the third annual 4-H calf dressing contest on September 15.

Participating 4-H members entered the competition in teams of two, divided into junior and senior age group categories. A third 4-H'er was chosen by each team to hold their calf, while they were given 10 minutes to fully garb the usually uncooperative animal.

In the age 8-12 junior category, first place was captured by Dana Doll, Glen Rock, and Mike Welsh, East Berlin, with a colorfully decorated calf in a horse-racing getup. Named "Sparkplug," the calf was attired as a thoroughbred race horse, accompanied by the two youngsters costumed as jockeys. Second place was won by Kelly and Mike Krebs, Jefferson, who decorated themselves and their calf as clowns. Woolly sheep skins covered the calf of Lesley and David King, Delta, who named their third place entry, "Little Bo Peep."

"Night on the Town," was the title given the winning senior division entry of Carol Mundis, York, and Tom Welsh, East Berlin. This calf was ready to step out in a costume complete with a lacy shawl. Second place honors went to Barb Kilgore, Airville, and Patty Greek, Delta, for their creation of a four-footed "Future Farmer," complete with high-topped shoes.

Serving as judges for the crowd-pleasing contest were Aggie Arnold-Norman, Lancaster County Extension Service home economist; Merle Krone, and Beth Hershey, with York County Extension Service.

Animal friends' scholarship started

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Friends of Animals, Inc., a New York-based national humane conservation organization, recently announced a scholarship program for university students. The program is aimed at focusing interest on the relationship of humans to other life forms as well as inducing student concern for the work of Congress. Annual scholarship awards in the aggregate amount of $8,000 will be given those students who submit the finest essays in support of a federal legislative campaign to end human exploitation of animals. The 1977-78 essay contest will center on the Williams-Long bill in the Congress which would ban the interstate shipment of furs from any state or nation which has not banned the leg-hold trap, the device used to catch and hold furbearers such as raccoon, bobcat, coyote and other animals wanted by the fur industry.

The scholarship program was made possible by a grant from Regina Bauer Frankenberg, a director of FoA and president of its Washington lobby, the Committee for Humane Legislation, Inc. Miss Frankenberg's motivation for the grant, she said, was to "engender concern for the environment and non-humans in young people." She noted that "new technology provides alternatives to the exploitation of animals for food, material, sport and scientific research." "And," Miss Frankenberg continued, "we want to encourage the young people who will be in charge of a new world which includes the earth and animals in its ethical scheme to expedite the transition through rational and philosophical influence on the people and the Congress."

The scholarship awards will be made to students, undergraduate or graduate, majoring in the fields of philosophy, journalism, law, economics, theology, and-or political science. Official entry blanks are available by writing: The Regina Bauer Frankenberg

Scholarship Committee, Friends of Animals, Inc., 11 West 60th Street, New York, NY 10023.

BUCKET ELEVATION

A new bucket elevator suitable for working at any height from 20 feet to 125 feet has been introduced by Bryant-Poff, Inc.

The Big Pro Series 65 elevators are designed to be assembled completely and easily on the ground, reducing erection costs, according to the manufacturer's calculations, by as much as 30 per cent.

The elevators have a capacity of 3000 bushels per hour and thus are designed Model 3000.

They stand on 8 and five-eighths inch tubular steel legs and are guyed for stability by steel cables. The belting is heavy, fire-resistant P.V.C., virtually stretch-free. The vented buckets are formed of polyethylene, contoured to conform to the tubular legs. The 20 inch diameter cast-iron pulleys are crowned and lagged to provide positive traction and eliminate belt slippage.

Complete information is available from Bryant-Poff, Inc., P.O. Box 127 Coatesville, Indiana 46121

New school lunch patterns proposed

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland recently proposed the most significant changes in meal patterns for the National School Lunch Program since the program's inception in 1946.

"These proposed regulations represent a major step in our efforts to help schools more adequately meet the nutritional needs of children and to reduce plate waste," Bergland said.

"We want to offer our students meals that are the most appealing and the most acceptable to them within a sound nutritional framework, and we intend to operate the school lunch program as efficiently as possible," the Agriculture Secretary added.

The proposed patterns update the long-standing Type A meal pattern. They are designed to provide children with approximately one-third the Recommended Dietary Allowances (RDA) for nutrients (except calories).

The proposed lunch patterns define minimum portions of food for children of five age groups. The proposed patterns reduce the amounts of food served to younger children among whom studies have found plate waste to be the greatest. At the same time, older students with increased appetites and nutritional needs will be offered more food. However, in order to meet the differing food preferences of individuals and to minimize plate waste, students age 12 and older will be able to choose smaller portion sizes of the required lunch components.

The lunch requirements are based on the 1974 revisions of the RDA published by the National Academy of Sciences. This brings the lunch patterns up to date with new knowledge about nutritional needs, and with changing food preferences and consumption habits of children.

The proposed new lunch patterns:

- expand the bread alternates to include the use of enriched or whole-grain rice and macaroni, and noodle products. This avoids situations in which both bread and chop suey over rice must be served at the same meal. It also allows flexible menu planning to meet ethnic and cultural food habits.

- require lunch to be served to 1- through 5-year-old children at two sittings which together meet lunch pattern requirements. Department officials expect this to better meet the food consumption habits of young children.

- require schools to offer students unflavored fluid lowfat, skim or buttermilk in addition to whole or flavored milk. This provision keeps the amount of fat in the lunch at a moderate level.

- require schools to involve students in their school food service program through activities such as menu planning, enhancement of the eating environment, program promotion and related student-community support activities.

USDA welcomes comments on these proposed regulations from all interested parties, including students, parents, faculty, and community members. Comments are due no later than Oct. 24.

After the initial comment period, interim regulations, reflecting public comment, will be issued. These are planned to be in effect on a pilot test basis, from Jan. 1978 through April 1978. Schools will be permitted to field test the new lunch patterns under the interim regulations, and the Department will continue to accept and consider public comments on the meal patterns during this period. Further, USDA will hold public hearings this fall on all child nutrition programs, including the new meal patterns.

"There are a number of areas of concern in the school lunch program where the Department believes extensive public discussion is needed before final regulations are promulgated," Bergland stated. "We have identified several matters on which we are especially anxious to have comments from the public before making a decision."

Among the areas identified are:

1. How to determine the appropriate meal pattern in schools with mixed age groupings.

2. Whether to require that second helpings be made available and how to administer reimbursements for such helpings.

3. How to provide the lunch pattern in two separate meal servings to the youngest group of children.

Bergland noted that the Department is also continuing to study alternatives to the Type A lunch pattern, and is considering the feasibility of the "nutrient standard approach" to menu planning. Under this approach, menus are planned to meet a predetermined nutrient level instead of a food pattern of specific types and quantities of food. He said that the Department is especially interested in comments on this issue.

The public, including students and parents, is invited to comment on both the proposed lunch patterns and the nutrients standard approach to meal planning. Written comments, suggestions, or objections should be sent to William G. Boling, Manager, Child Nutrition Programs, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Weather-resistant RAMIK® Brown rodenticide keeps shape, freshness, taste, potency.

Count on a long period of excellent control.

Potent treatment costs little in comparison with loss of just a few of your trees.

What's one of your trees worth?
What will a bushel of fruit bring?

tree root-pruned or girdled and killed by orchard mice (pine or meadow voles)

Then figure the application of highly effective
Ramik Brown weather-resistant rodenticide
You'll find Ramik well worth it!

Ramik bait is 26% protein

As food sources diminish after harvest, meadow voles go all out for highly palatable, apple flavored, mouse-sized Ramik pellets . . . and leave your trees alone. Most other foods simply do not attract rodents as high-protein Ramik does

The quiet killer

Ramik Brown pellets contain a small amount of the well-known anticoagulant, diphacinone . . . a killing agent used by professional exterminators.
Diphacinone thins out the blood so that the vole bleeds internally, painlessly, and dies

Because diphacinone is in such low concentration, the vole does not react violently. Ramik does not
"signal" its killing ingredient. Chance of bait shyness is much lessened

Ramik lasts long, does the job

A special patented manufacturing process helps Ramik pellets retain shape, palatability and potency, even under high-moisture conditions. Also chemically treated for mold- and insect-resistance, weather-resistant Ramik keeps fresh over a comparatively long period

Get ready to bait with Ramik Brown

As it says on the label, apply Ramik pellets after harvest and before snow. Ramik will knock down the hungry vole population. Later, when the snow recedes, a second application can be made to control high density populations or the voles that may have reinfested the vacated tunnels

Ramik is a pesticide. Handle it as you would any other orchard chemical. Never allow exposure of drums to non target species. Do not expose bait in small piles, or in a constricted pattern.
The bait should be scattered evenly over the orchard floor at the rate specified on the label.
Reseal any unused portion of the bait and store
in a closed storage area

Registered for use only in Colorado, Idaho,
Michigan, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon,
Pennsylvania, Utah, Virginia and Washington

One day in the office, in the not-too-distant past, it became apparent to both the head and associate editor that each attempted the game of tennis. Although both admitted they were content with so-so tennis shots, and luck in matches in the past was limited, a Lancaster Farming Tennis Team was set up and a match for mixed doubles scheduled against two unsuspecting souls.

The day of the match dawned bright and clear as the new team of Borry and Krieg trotted out on the courts, never having seen each other play, much less figured out their strategy of playing tennis together. In the pursuit of chasing down farm news, there is very little time left to discuss the fine points of batting a tennis ball around.

Naturally, the team Lancaster Farmers were stacked up against had been joyfully practicing their game together for over a year, concentrating on special shots and tennis balls whizzing through the air.

During the warm-up, it was clearly noticeable that Krieg's grip on his racket was closely reminiscent of his days of holding a pitchfork while Borry favored a two-fisted baseball-bat hold.

Borry's first four volleys hit the net. Krieg's first volley sailed over the fence and out of sight. The opponents across the court huddled together for a conference to see if this farce should continue.

After 10 more minutes of chasing tennis balls all over the court, the match began.

Things started rather slowly, each side testing the other, and neither willing to show hidden talents. After 20 minutes of rather ridiculous errors, the Lancasters Farmers were slightly behind, four games to zero.

Then Krieg and Borry and a little conference of their own, mentioning such things as dumb mistakes, silly attitudes, and personal pride. There was a new gleam in their eyes as they returned to the court.

Krieg concentrated on his fast ball which zoomed across the net, and usually left the opposing player wondering which way it went. His stance of holding the racket high, while swooping down on the ball at a terrifying speed, began to have a demoralizing effect on his rivals. As the game progressed, his efficiency in having his shots land two inches inside the corner boundary increased greatly.

Borry concentrated on getting her famous slo-o-o-w serve inbounds, and used her double handed backhand to score a few points. Being lefthanded, had a slight advantage of winging the ball into places least suspected.

At the end of the first set, Lancaster Farmers six, Opponents four.

During the second set, the heat set in, and Borry faltered occasionally while Krieg ran in his usual circles, slamming the ball down people's throats. There were a few tense moments when Borry doublefaulted a serve and then stood still watching the tennis ball bounce by, but other than offer to trade his opponent partners, Krieg took the action in good grace.

End of the second match, Opponents seven, Lancaster Farmers five.

Now it was time for the bully match. Four tennis player became grim and silent.

Although it must be admitted that by now Borry was slightly tired and not as thrilled anymore at the prospect of spending the day out on the hot asphalt, Krieg soon brought her into line by mentioning that the game could begin if she'd stop leaning on the net.

Borry struggled into position, wiping sweat from her face. Krieg looked just as fresh as when he started.

Twelve games later the score was tied-six games to six. Game was officially called until another date.

Since then tennis has been practiced by all concerned but no matches have been set. Undaunted, Borry and Krieg wait. Tennis anyone?

KIDSHUNGRY? TRY MILK

School time means after-school snack time, and it's sometimes a challenge to find the right foods that will not only nourish youngsters, but which they will enjoy as well.

Fortunately, there are milk and dairy products to turn to. They are nourishing and can be prepared in ways that are appealing to children. Right now, the U.S. Department of Agriculture advises that they are also in plentiful supply.

Milk and dairy products are one of the "Basic Four" food groups essential to good health. They provide calcium to help grow sound bones and teeth, and protein to help build and repair body tissues and fight infection. They are also a good source of riboflavin, a B vitamin that helps keep skin healthy and vision clear.

Milk and dairy products can add new dimensions to menu planning. These recipes have been tested in USDA kitchens:

Maple Float (six-servings, about one cup each)

Mix $\frac{1}{2}$ cup maple syrup, one tablespoon molasses and five cups milk. Stir well. Cut one pint vanilla ice cream into six pieces and place one piece in each glass. Pour maple mixture over ice cream and serve immediately. Calories per serving: about 275. For fewer calories, use skim milk in place of whole milk. About 215 calories per serving.

Strawberry Milkshake (6 servings, 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ cups each)

Thaw one 10-ounce package frozen strawberries until soft but still very cold; crush. Add one quart milk and one cup instant nonfat dry milk to strawberries and blend thoroughly. Add one quart slightly softened strawberry ice cream and beat or shake just enough to blend ingredients. Pour into tall glasses and serve immediately. Calories per serving: about 370.

Cheese Bread Sticks (makes 24 bread sticks)

Stir together 1- $\frac{3}{4}$ cups unsifted flour, two teaspoons baking powder and $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoons salt. Mix in $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. With a fork, stir in one cup or four ounces shredded sharp cheddar cheese. Stir in $\frac{3}{4}$ cup milk gradually, using just enough to make a dough that is soft, but not sticky. Preheat oven to 450 degrees F. Put dough on a lightly floured surface and knead a few times. Roll dough in poppy seeds if desired. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet about 10 minutes. Calories per bread stick: about 80.

QUILTS VALUABLE PART OF HISTORY

As with many other crafts, quilting developed from necessity - the need for warm bed coverings. But even after the advent of machine-made goods, the art form remained because of the outlet it provided for creativity.

Pioneer women had to use only what was available in cloth scraps for quilts. But they managed to think of imaginative designs for sewing them together.

Cherished garments found their way into quilts tops after years of service and it became fun for the family to trace their personal history through quilts.

Quilting also provided an opportunity for a social occasion - the quilting bee - since several women at once could get them done faster.

Quilting is part of American heritage even though its beginnings go back to the ancient Chinese. If you're lucky enough to have quilts passed on to you from generations back, cherish them as an heirloom. You'll appreciate them even more in the future.

Young lady knows cows

YORK - Nine-year-old Deborah Lehman of York knows cows about as well as anyone as far as type is concerned. At a judging contest held for 4-Hers at the York Fair last week, the young lady scored 100 points.

It was a perfect performance. Second in the contest were her brother, Brian, and fellow 4-H clubber, Joey Welsh of East Berlin. Each had 97 points.

Paul Knight and Barbara Kilgore were next in line with 94 points each. Both are from the Airville area of York County.

Coming in at 93 points was Jonathan Miller, followed by Patty Greek with 91.

James Knight, Mike Welsh, and Cindy Rutter shared the next spot with 89 points each, edging Timy Rutter, who came in at 87. The contest was held last Thursday evening during activities which included a calf dressing contest. Two classes of dairy cattle were judged, one each of Jerseys and Holsteins.

Budweiser Clydesdales

equipment is the main factor that makes them so spectacular.

Six men are responsible for the Clydesdales when they travel—the driver, the assistant driver, and four chauffeur grooms who take care of the horses and harness. These six men and the 10 horses are on the road for 10 months out of the year, traveling approximately 40,000 miles in that span of time.

According to information furnished by Anheuser-Busch, Inc., these animals are the most widely traveled horses in the United States. Their transportation is three 40 by eight foot vans which were specially built for them. Two of the vans house the Clydesdales and a third van carries the huge brass-trimmed wagon, portable stalls, the harness, and other important equipment required for their personal appearances.

According to the men who care for the horses, their schedule never lets up. After one fair, horse show, or parade, the animals are loaded up and transported to their next location, often states away.

In a recent interview with Lancaster Farming, one attendant revealed that since the first of January there have only been 10 days when the men and animals have not either been on the road or showing. They left home last December and they will return on October 23.

"I've got a permanent home. It's right there in the cab," he said, pointing to the one of the three trucks.

According to Earl Woolcott, the head of the East Coast hitch (Budweiser has two hitches—one in the East and one in the West), the animals are cared for 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days of the year.

"You've always got to be around," he said. "There could be a fire, or one of the horses could get sick, or when they're in portable housing, the winds could collapse the tent."

The attendants have no fear of people stealing the equipment or the horses, insured at $10,000 a piece, because, as they put it, "where would you hide a Clydesdale?" and "after one day they'd get tired of the feed bill."

The animals eat 25 quarts of feed and 40 to 50 pounds of hay a day, all of which is purchased where the entourage goes.

While the majority of the attendants stay in motels on the tour, there is always one individual who stays with the horses.

"They are never left alone," states Woolcott.

It's not just the horses that require attention, however. The gleaming brass and leather harnesses and shining Budweiser wagon has to be kept up, as well. Upon first observation, the harness, valued at $30,000, appears brand new, but according to attendants, it is four years old, a fact that attests to the care given it.

The history of the Budweiser Clydesdales goes back to post prohibition days. Before the federal crack-down on liquor, the Anheuser-Busch brewery used horses and brewery wagons to deliver their beer. But, with the advent of prohibition, that tradition was ended as the brewery went into the making of other products such as soft drinks, commercial yeast, and other products.

Then, in 1933 when prohibition was repealed, August Busch, Jr., purchased a team of Clydesdales horses and had them trained to pull a huge brewery wagon as a special way to commemorate the repeal. In that way, the tradition began.

Today, these animals are seen from coast to coast at state fairs, horse shows, and parades.

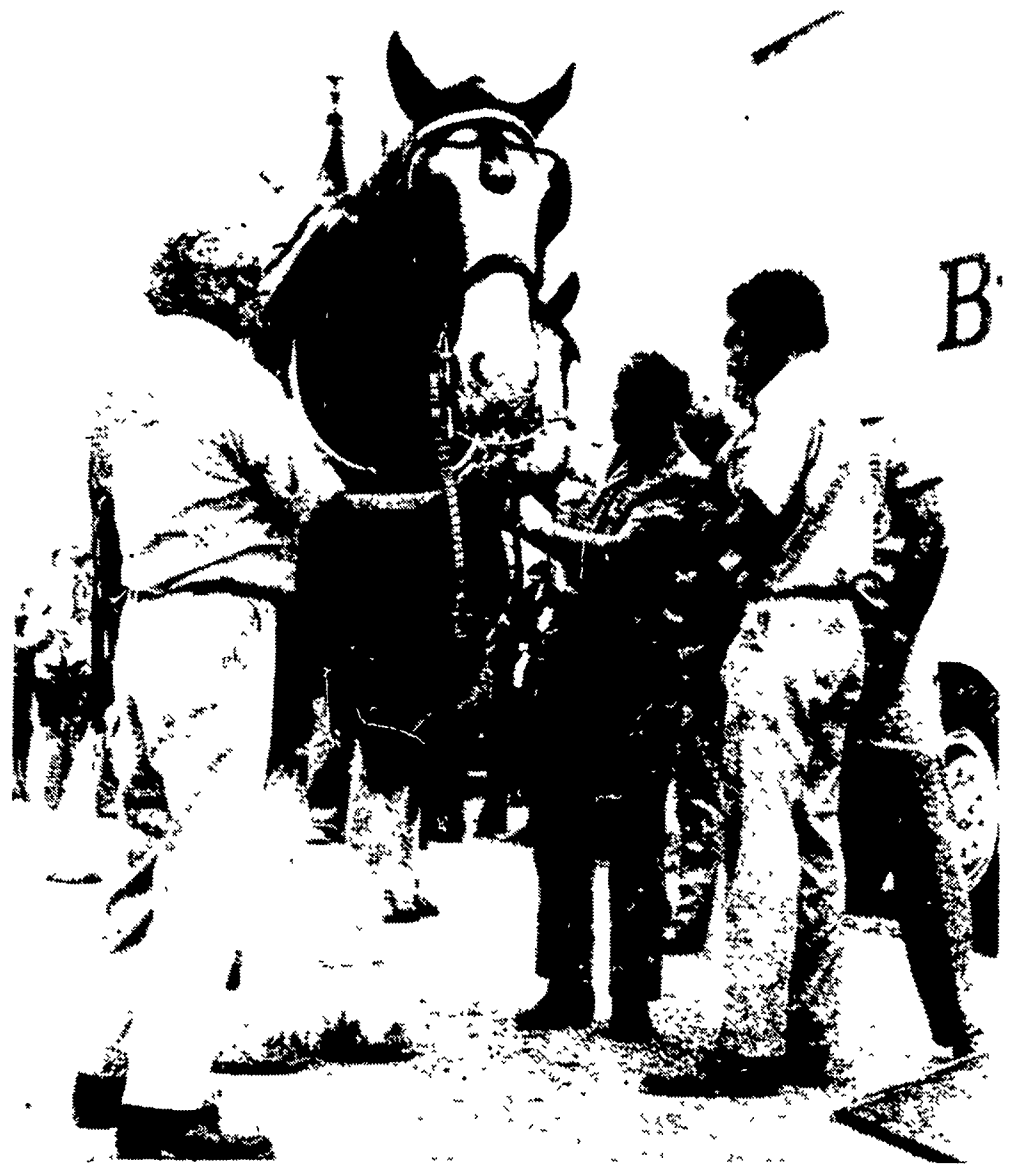

According to Woolcott, while the animals are so well trained that they look as though they follow one lead animal, this is not the case.

"The driver has four reins laced through the fingers of each hand," says Woolcott, "And, each horse is driven all the time."

While they harness only to four years old. A Budweiser Clydesdale must be bay in color and have all four leg stockings white and must have a white face.

The corporation has its own breeding farm in St. Louis, Mo., and all tolled, has about 120 head of these magnificent animals, according to the Budweiser attendants.

When a Clydesdale joins the hitch, he is usually three

Five of the six attendants who groom and take care of the Budweiser Clydesdales begin "dressing" them in their finery for a show.

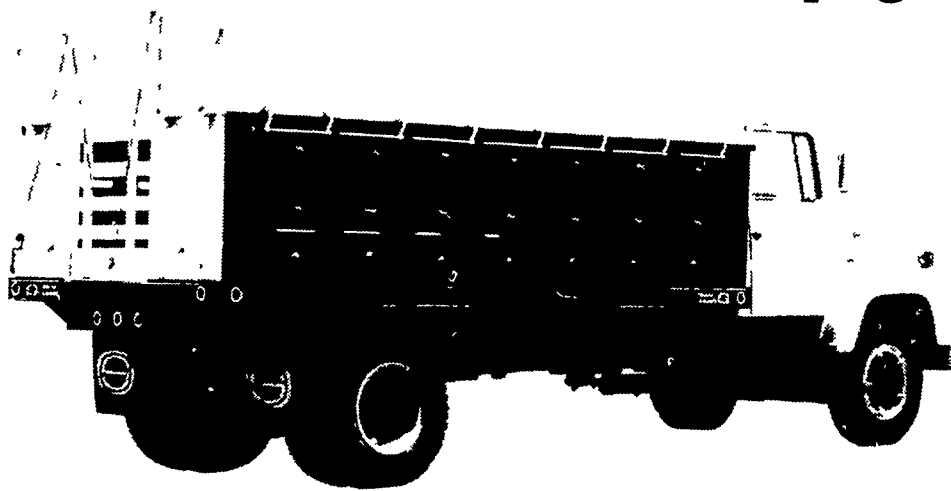

Located at the St. Louis plant, the Clydesdale stables have been designated a National Historic Landmark by the National Park Service.

The New England home of the Clydesdales is in Merrimack, N.H., at the brewery and stables. Along with the horses, Budweiser also has eight of the biggest oxen in the world, according to the Clydesdale attendants.

Tickets for the Penn National Horse Show can be obtained by writing "Pennsylvania National Horse Show, 31 N. Second Street, Harrisburg, PA 17101."

Freight rates unliked

HUDSON, Iowa - Soybeans have carried more than their share of railroad costs, and it's time for the railroads and the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to stop penalizing soybean farmers with rate increases, according to Dr. Kenneth L. Bader, chief executive officer of the American Soybean Association (ASA).

The association has taken strong exception to the ICC's refusal to rescind a four per cent general freight rate increase as requested in a petition filed with the Commission in January.

"We are again requesting the Commission to reconsider its decision in light of the fact that there is more than an adequate cushion in soybean freight rates to absorb increased costs," said Bader.

U.S. Department of Agriculture studies show that freight rates for soybeans more than meet the costs to the railroads of providing their services.

"The ICC did not respond to that major point in our petition, and we feel that farmers should not be asked to bear a larger burden, especially in times of low prices," he said.

Bader also made it plain that the ASA protest applied to the current request by railroads for a 20 per cent increase in southern states and from Illinois and Indiana routes to southern states.

"This increase is inequitable and damaging to soybean farmers because existing freight rates more than meet the cost of hauling soybeans and soybean meal. If the latter increase is granted it would be imposed where railroads enjoy market dominance and where soybean shipment do not have the benefit of alternative, viable transportation as they do in other regions," said Bader.

Cropping alternative suggested

LEBANON - With market prices of grain crops depressed and hay prices quite attractive, maybe now is the time to consider a change in your farm cropping program for next year, suggests the Lebanon County Conservation District. Consideration should be given to including an increased acreage of alfalfa-grass mixture for next year's spring planting. With yields of four to five tons of hay per acre possible, alfalfa-grass mixture should give quite attractive returns, say conservationists here.

Research conducted at a leading eastern university suggests that some grass should be included with alfalfa seeding. The grasses will provide stand insurance, reduce lodging, winter heaving and aid in curing and weed control in the alfalfa.

Before changing cropping plans, consideration should be given to the limitation and adaptation of the soils on the farm. The Lebanon County Conservation District will assist farmers to identify the soils on their farm and evaluate them for the intended crop. Conservation practices to reduce soil erosion can also be included in your cropping program change. This information is part of the conservation plan that most county farmers already have.

The dense cover of grass protects the soil from loosening action of falling raindrops reducing the great risk of erosion. For every pound of top growth produced by grasses a pound or more of root growth is produced. The root system, reaching down into the subsoil, will tap the deeper soil mixture and plant nutrients.

Put it all together!

The Babcock B-300V is rapidly reestablishing herself as the world's top layer. Egg producers with flocks well into production are reporting performance they haven't seen for years . . . from any layer. In many cases, in fact, they are reporting their best performance ever.

But in this business, potential is only half the game. Babcock backs its bird with the most professional, experienced distribution team in the egg industry.

Consider these features:

PRODUCT

The B-300V rates "excellent" in all key indicators of profitable performance:

- *EGG PRODUCTION -- The B-300V peaks high and early, for quick recovery of your costs, and early profitability. Her persistency after peak translates to top egg production.
- *FEED CONVERSION -- The B-300V has a proven ability to efficiently convert feed to eggs. From 1966, until 1973 when she was withdrawn from Random Sample Tests, she was the top average feed converter in the industry.
- *LIVABILITY -- Field results from all B-300V flocks in production since her reintroduction in late '76 indicate she may have far-and-away the best livability in the business.
- *EGGSHELL QUALITY -- Eggshell strength is one of the greatest assets of the 1977 B-300V. Between 1972 and 1976, shell strength of eggs produced by B-300V's has improved by a measured 15% in early lay (36 weeks) and 30.8% in late lay (68 weeks).
- *RESISTANCE TO STRESS -- We call it "manageability". The B-300V is a calm, adaptable bird. She resists environmental stresses and recovers rapidly from management problems.

SERVICE

The Babcock distribution team has developed service programs to provide each individual grower or egg producer with the optimum product for his specific operation:

- *DELIVERY -- Careful, on-time and courteous.
- *QUALITY PRODUCTS -- Birds are hatched and/or grown with Babcock technical assistance. Uniform, healthy chicks and started pullets are vaccinated for your area challenges, and are correctly and fully-developed for their age.
- *SERVICE -- Experienced, professional service is available before, during and after delivery.
- *FLEXIBILITY -- Babcock distributors are equipped to supply the needs of your operation, whatever the size of your order. Cage or floor grown started pullets are available, depending on the needs of your program.

Talk to a professional about your next replacement flock. The businessmen behind the businessman's bird have a performance package tailored to your chick or started pullet program.

Houseplants and tropical gardens mix

DOVER, DEL.—Visitors to the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences in Newark have had the opportunity to observe an interesting display of tropical plants this summer. Set out in a border in front of Agricultural Hall until the threat of cold weather drives it indoors is a collection of banana, palm, citrus and avocado trees, foliage begonias, and other plants normally seen indoors at this latitude.

The display is the idea of greenhouse supervisor Paul H. Dennison, who says it started out as a good way to make space in University greenhouses for other plant projects over the summer. It also gives some ideas for a more innovative approach to the treatment of houseplants during warm weather months.

One enthusiast of the tropical garden idea is horticulturist Dr. Richard W. Lighty, coordinator of the University's Longwood Program, a graduate program in horticulture affiliated with Longwood Gardens. Lighty feels that many people have houseplants that could easily be used to create similar effects while giving them a beneficial summer airing.

According to Lighty, many of our popular houseplants come from very exotic parts of the world, such as Polynesia, the West Indies, South Africa, Mexico and Java. Though some manage quite well considering the limited light conditions and dry environment of the average home, they really flourish when set outdoors—provided they get proper light and frequent watering. And they can provide a lush setting for a patio, part of the flower border or even a balcony while they're outside.

Among the plants on display in front of Agricultural Hall are several large specimens, including two banana trees, a Windmill Palm and a Sago Palm. These are more plant than the average householder would want to tackle for winter storage indoors, but there are also a number of other examples that could easily lend themselves to overwinter care in a house or apartment.

There are a couple of colorful Crotons—fast-growing shrubs whose spotted yellow, green and orange foliage provide a bright splash of color; Angel Wing Begonias from Central America; Metallic Begonias whose reddish green leaves appear made of foil; the striking Bird of Paradise (a South African cousin of the banana); and some bromeliads (an unusual decorative plant related to the pineapple).

Lighty says there are many other plants that can also be used. The trick is figuring out how to get them to live over winter. Both available space and light conditions indoors have to be taken into account.

One way to make winter storage of tropical plants more convenient is to choose some that can be cut back, dried off and overwintered in a dormant condition.

The fig tree (Ficus carica) is one which can be treated this way. It has the added appeal of bearing delicious fruit during the summer. Another plant that goes completely dormant is Datura, or Angel's Trumpets—a sun-loving shrub that bears large white, salmon or pink, trumpet-like blossoms. Probably the most familiar example of a plant that can go completely dormant in the winter is the geranium, once the exotic prize of many a farm wife in the cooler parts of our country.

During dormancy such plants can be kept in a cool basement, spring house, sun porch, attached garage or other building where temperatures don't drop below 38 degrees. Soil should be kept barely moist (not dusty) during the three to four months of dormancy, which means it may be necessary to occasionally water pots lightly.

People with a breezeway, enclosed porch or light, cool entrance hall can easily extend the growing season of many semi-dormant types of tropical plants by keeping them in such a location over winter. During this brief period (two months or so), growth stops without much outward change in appearance. Plants in this rest stage require less water and should not be fertilized.

The Flowering Maple or Parlor Maple (Abutilon x hybridum) in the Agricultural Hall planting is one example that overwinters this way. An old-fashioned favorite that comes from tropical America, it has orange bell-shaped flowers all year round and blooms best in full sun when slightly pot bound. It's also easy to start new plants from cuttings.

Houseplants

There is another way to carry tropical plants through the winter—one can take leaf or stem cuttings of specimens like foliage begonias, and then discard the parent plants if they have grown too large to keep indoors easily.

Similarly, small side shoots or sprouts can be pulled or cut from some plants and started in pots of their own. Do this with a banana tree and by next spring such sprouts will be trees in their own right.

Not all tropical plants have a dormant period, of course. Some have to be kept actively growing all winter and these are the greatest challenge to the indoor gardener. Some have rather demanding requirements.

For instance, unless they get bright light, Croton leaves will lose their vivid colors. And citrus trees, which have a period of winter bloom and often are covered with ripening fruit as well, also require lots of sunlight. Many of the other foliage plants, such as bromeliads and begonias, are less demanding, however, and will make do in muted light.

Incidentally, one way to get around the space needs of some of the larger tropical plants is by growing dwarf varieties.

Growing houseplants for a tropical garden next summer doesn't have to involve the purchase of expensive specimens. Avocados and grapefruit trees are two examples of plants one can start from seeds of produce purchased at the supermarket. And many others can be started from leaf or stem cuttings shared by a friend. One can start grooming houseplants this winter for a special display outdoors when warm weather rolls around once again. It could be one way to make the winter seem shorter.

Referendum passed

NEW YORK - The milk marketing referendum recently held for Federal Order 2 dairymen has been approved by 92 per cent of the voting dairymen. The vote was in regard to transportation allowances. Central in the issue were allegations by Dairy Lea and NEDCO dairy cooperatives that they were losing milk market outlets due to increased transportation costs. The two cooperatives asked for hearings and a subsequent vote to get the Order changed so that member dairymen could hold their present market outlets.

The Order 2 milk marketing area is comprised mostly of New York and New Jersey, however, some 5400 dairymen in Pennsylvania are also affected. Well over 2000 of them are in southeastern and south-central portions of the state, where Order 4 finds much of its strength.

The outcome of the referendum, which was concluded on Sept. 11, is frowned upon by Order 4's Pennmarva Dairymen's Federation, an organization comprised of several cooperatives in this area. Their leadership contends that the vote outcome will be detrimental to all dairymen, regardless of the Order they're in. Pennmarva will therefore take the case to court.

Pennmarva's challenge of the referendum is aimed at stopping the referendum from taking effect on Nov. 1, as originally envisioned when it was passed.

Children need breakfast

DOVER, DEL.-Extension nutrition specialists tell us that too many children head for school with little or no breakfast under their belts. This is not only foolish, but it can promote poor eating habits.

Breakfast is important for growing youngsters. Teenagers, in fact, often grow so rapidly that their bodies get all tuckered out. Thus they require extra sleep as well as plenty of nutritious food.

The body is refreshed after a night's sleep, but it needs refueling also. From dinner to breakfast could span 12 hours or more. Skipping breakfast adds several more hours to the fast, and the body can run pretty low on go-power in that time.

Breakfast provides nutrients that may not be furnished adequately by other meals. These include Vitamin C from fruit, and calcium, riboflavin and other nutrients from milk.

Breakfast also helps restore the glucose level in the blood, which drops after several hours without food and can result in the blahs. Then there is the matter of performance at school. Studies have shown that youngsters who've eaten breakfast are more alert, more productive, and better behaved than those who haven't.

According to extension nutritionists, breakfast should include milk, whole-grain cereal or equivalent, and fruit. Add any extras that calories, time and the budget permit.

Whole wheat pancakes or waffles are a cinch when the batter is mixed and refrigerated the night before.

Moist, fragrant bran muffins can be baked ahead and reheated quickly in the oven.

Natural foods cookbooks are full of recipes for crunchy, home-made granola. One can make it special with nuts and raisins, dates or apricots.

Open-face sandwiches will tempt even the most confirmed sleepyhead. Top-toasted English muffin halves with bacon (fried the night before), a slice of tomato and a slice of cheese, all to be slipped under the broiler. Or one can cover buttered rye toast with thin slices of ham or Canadian bacon, and a poached egg.

Fried apple rings and sausages are made for each other. So is French toast with hot applesauce between the slices.

Make-ahead creamed chipped beef on split corn-bread squares provides lots of cheer on a chilly morning. So do eggs baked in corned beef hash cups.

When one has planned a week's worth of marvelous menus, carry it a step further. A person can make the breakfast table look inviting with colorful mats, bright napkins, a potted geranium.

State horse show set

DOVER, Del. - The annual State of Delaware 4-H Horse Show will be held October 2, at Dr. W. L. Mroz's Red Gate Farm just west of Dover. The event starts at 9 a.m. There will be approximately 30 classes in English, Western and miscellaneous divisions.

The show is sponsored by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service and the Delaware 4-H Horse Advisory Committee.

Competition is limited to members of the Delaware 4-H Horse and Pony Project. Attendance is open to the public and admission is free.

A special attraction this year will be the presentation of two quarter horse weanlings by Mr. Bob Evans of Columbus, Ohio. The horses will go to two deserving 4-H youths who will train and school them for future performance in the show ring.

Information on the show is available from Mrs. Miriam Shepard, RD3, Harrington, or Mrs. Betty Phillips, RD2, Lewes and from county 4-H youth agents in Newark, Dover and Georgetown.
